LAEMMLE WILL SHUT DOWN UNIVERSAL CITY

Vets' Bureau Scandal Spreads

PROBE LAYS BARE GRAFT CHANNELS

$25,000 in California Hospital Transaction Questioned by Committee

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—A new sensation was sprung in the senatorial investigation of the United States veterans' bureau late today. James N. Williams, a Philadelphia dairyman, testified that Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director, who is under fire, approached him some time ago with a proposition to supply milk to the government hospital at Perryville, Md., and suggested that he, Forbes, "could make it interesting" for the dairyman if he would permit his milk wagons to carry drugs and narcotics away from the hospital.

Williams is president of the Turner and West Side creameries in Philadelphia. He said Colonel Forbes came to his home with Elias R. Mortimer, who last week declared on the witness stand that Forbes had told him they could "clean up" through the disposal of the vast narcotics which the government had stored at the Perryville institution.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Sensational charges of graft and extravagance in the purchase of hospital sites by officials of the United States veterans' bureau were promised today when the senate investigating committee resumed its public hearings.

The charges involved the nospital site at Livermore, Cal., and the erection of a "kitchenless" hospital at Excelsior Springs, Mo., during the administration of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director. Senate investigators were said to have unearthed evidence of graft, involving $25,000 in the Livermore transaction.

GRILL SINCLAIR ON OIL LEASES

Senate Committee Learns He Contributes to Both Large Parties

By KENNETH CLARK
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—A stormy scene was enacted today at the senate committee's investigation into the leasing of Teapot dome naval oil reserve to the Sinclair interests by former Secretary of the Interior Fall when Harry F. Sinclair, head of the interests controlling the reserves, admitted that he had contributed heavily to the Democrat and Republican campaign funds.

The lid was pried off by Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, shortly after the hearing opened, when he asked Sinclair directly:

Political Motives Hinted

"Did you subscribe to the Republican campaign fund in 1920?"

"Yes," replied Sinclair, "but I can not now recall the exact amount of my subscription."

At this moment, Senator Smoot, Republican, of Utah, interrupted Walsh, who was conducting the questioning and asked Sinclair whether it was not also true that he had contributed to the Democratic campaign fund.

"Yes," was the oil man's laconic reply.

Sinclair's testimony accentuated the interest of the other members of the committee and Senator Lenroot, Republican, of Wisconsin, asked:

"What was your motive in subscribing to these funds?"

"I was urged to do so by my friends," answered Sinclair.

Contributes Regularly

"Was this the first time you have contributed to the campaign funds of political parties?" demanded Lenroot.

"Oh, no," said Sinclair. "I have made contributions before."

"Well, then," asked Walsh, "did you take any direct part in raising funds for the Republican party?"

"I took no direct part in raising funds."

WALLACE REFUTES STOKES' EVIDENCE

Claims He Ran Away From Titian-Haired Beauty, Never Proposed

By JACK CARBERRY
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Edgar T. Wallace, "the man in the case," in the Stokes vs. Stokes divorce suit, "ran away" from the titian-haired Helen Elwood Stokes in 1909 before her marriage to William Earl Dodge Stokes, man of millions, he said under cross-examination today.

"I did not want to be bothered with her—did not want to take her out, so I just cut her," Wallace testified.

The witness indignantly denied testimony given by Mrs. Stokes in the previous trial of the case that Wallace had asked her to marry him, and that he had also asked her mother, Mrs. A. S. Miller, for her hand.

Denies Proposal

Max D. Steuer, attorney for Stokes, read from the record of the first trial. He quoted Mrs. Stokes as saying:

"Mr. Wallace asked me to marry him—in fact he asked my mother for my hand."

"I never proposed," Wallace said.

"Why did you give her a diamond ring—a ring worth $1000?" Steuer demanded.

"I did not give it to her—I loaned it to her."

"Were you in the habit of loaning girls $1000 rings."

"Well, I loaned rings to several girls in my life," Wallace answered.

"The fact is you ran away from Miss Elwood, now Mrs. Stokes—cut her entirely and stopped speaking to her?" Steuer asked.

"Yes, I did not want to be bothered with her."

Rings In Rickard

The name of Tex Rickard, promoter, was again brought into the case by Steuer.

"Who paid for your apartment while you were away?" he asked Wallace.

"I paid it."

"Didn't Tex Rickard, the fight promoter, pay the housekeeper?"

"No, Rickard owed me money as commission on land deals."

Wallace denied he had written any letters to Mrs. Stokes or bought her a ring.

"Did you hold any affection for Miss Elwood, who is now Mrs. Stokes?" Steuer asked.

"I did not."

U. S. OPTIMISTIC OVER DEBT PLAN

Poincare's Speech Fails to Dim Confidence in Reparations Meet

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 29.—American confidence that the forthcoming conference of experts will be successful in overcoming the reparations deadlock remained undimmed today, despite the stern utterances of Premier Poincare over the week-end. M. Poincare has sung the same song in varying keys for a long time.

Instead of disagreeing with the French government over the stipulation that the experts are to act merely in an advisory capacity, officials of this government are entirely in agreement.

Senate Is Touchy

The United States Senate is decidedly "touchy" over the question of America mixing up in the reparations controversy and both the White House and state department are well content to have the inquiry by the experts left as "unofficial" as possible.

Both President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes feel that the reparations problem must be solved in the long run by economic facts, assisted by world opinion. It follows logically, in their opinion, that the world opinion cannot be formed until the exact facts concerning Germany's condition are ascertained and published. This will be the task of experts designated by the various governments.

Must Break Deadlock

Whether or not the experts advise a reduction in the total amount of reparations Germany must pay, now fixed at 132,000,000,000 gold marks, is not important at this time, according to administration officials. The important thing, officials said today, is to break the present deadlock existing abroad, and to ascertain the facts concerning Germany's ability to pay.

London Doubtful of Success of Conference

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Government circles today were not optimistic over the outcome of the proposed international conference to deal with reparations and were inclined to regard France's conditions as so drastic as to nullify the value of the meeting and perhaps prevent the United States from participating.

British official opinion regards Premier Poincare's Sunday speech at Sampigny as reflecting an inflexible attitude and imposing restrictions which were not contained in the French note to Great Britain.

There were several points in the French premier's speech which were regarded as obstacles:

1. France will refuse to make

MANY PRIZES AT KIWANIS HALLOWEEN

Parade, Stunts, Fireworks Planned for Youngsters Night of October 31

Plans are now complete for the Halloween parade sponsored by the local Kiwanis club, announces Frank Echols, chairman of the committee that is working out elaborate arrangements for the affair.

Following a meeting of this committee Saturday afternoon a complete list of the twenty-eight fine prizes is given in this article.

Children who plan to enter the parade are requested to report to their teachers at once, states Mr. Echols, and parents are urged to cooperate to this end.

Parents Also Invited

Parents are also cordially invited to attend the celebration on the Glendale Union High school grounds, following the parade, and a special section in the grand stand has been reserved for them.

Not only school children but all boys and girls of the city are invited to participate in the big parade and celebration. Upwards of 1500 young folks are expected to take part, all in some sort of appropriate costume.

The parade starts at 7:15 o'clock Wednesday night, October 31, at Harvard and Louise streets, Mr. Echols states, and will march up Brand boulevard to Wilson avenue and back down to Colorado street, thence to the high school athletic field, where a monster bonfire will be lit and high jinks enjoyed.

Fireworks Display

At this time prizes will be awarded, there will be a number of push-ball games, "hot dogs" will be distributed to everyone participating in the parade, and the celebration will close with a brilliant display of fireworks.

"In other words, Halloween this year will become a constructive community event," says Mr. Echols, "instead of the destructive, mischief-making affair it has been in past years. Instead of a few hoodlums playing pranks at the expense of the city at large,

Divers Plan Rescue of 5 Sailors in O-5

BALBOA HEIGHTS, Panama, Oct. 29.—United States naval authorities, with floating cranes, were making efforts today to raise the sunken submarine O-5 in the hope that least some of the missing five sailors may be imprisoned and not dead.

The submarine collided with the United Fruit liner Abangarez, while entering Cristobal and sank immediately. The Abangarez was not damaged. The O-5 was moving on the surface at the time, accompanied by two other submersibles.

SOCIALISTS IN CABINET ATTACKED

Ministers Urge Stresemann to Suppress Reactionists in Bavaria

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—President Ebert of Germany today appointed Dr. Heinze, commissary for Saxony. This action was taken after the Dresden government rejected Berlin's ultimatum that it resign. Dr. Heinze was the last minister of justice in the old kingdom of Saxony. The appointment is tantamount to setting aside the Saxon government by the Reich government.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—One German secessionist was killed and three wounded when attacked by police and nationalists at Walheim today. Occupational troops expelled fifteen German policemen from Aachen (Aix-la-Chapelle), charging them with tearing down separatist proclamations.

DUISBURG, Occupied Germany, Oct. 29.—Six persons were badly wounded today when police fired upon a crowd during rioting. Belgian military authorities had appointed the separtist leader, Engle, lord mayor. A mob of unemployed besieged the city hall demanding his resignation.

Engel ordered the police to fire. Belgian troops dispersed the mob.

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—The entire Saxon government at Dresden was deposed by Reichswehr troops this afternoon. Soldiers led the ministers, including Premier Zeigner, from the government offices.

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—The German crisis today took the form of a political battle against the socialists in the federal cabinet. Chancellor Stresemann's position is one of utmost difficulty with the socialist ministers pressing him to desist from his aggressive course against Saxony, or at least proceed with equal sharpness against reactionary elements in Bavaria.

Further fighting is threatening between reds and Reichswehr and Freigberg in the Saxon coal fields. Casualties in Saturday's battle were 23 dead and 30 wounded. Quiet was restored Sunday, but during the night there were signs of further unrest.

Ruhr Situation Grave

A situation of utmost gravity prevails over the Ruhr with hungr riots, fighting between political factions, unemployment and strikes.

Chancellor Stresemann and his colleagues are engaged in a supreme effort to preserve the unity of the Reich.

Bavaria's policy towards Berlin was described today as one of "goat getting." Dr. Von Kahr, the Bavarian dictator, consistently pursues the policy he laid down on the first day he was in power.

Combat Socialism

"This is a struggle, not against the German state, but against Marxism (socialism)," he stated today.

"All of the nationalist forces throughout the state are supporting Bavaria's effort to smoke out the sorialists from the government. We want the socialists to throw up their jobs, leaving the field open for all-nationalist government which would amount to a real dictatorship, based upon the Reichswehr as the military executive."

Houston Sheriff Nabs Two in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—Sheriff T. A. Binford, of Houston, Texas, "killed two birds with one stone" today when he came here to arrest W. M. Ward is said to have forged a receipt for 131 bales of cotton to read 1892 bales and on the strength of it, is said to have borrowed approximately $100,000.

James Rolph III. Hurt in San Francisco Crash

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—James Rolph, III, 20, eldest son of Mayor James Rolph, who was seriously injured in an automobile crash, was reported slightly improved at the St. Francis hospital today. Rolph shouted to his companion not to jump and threw his body in front of her. The car turned a triple somersault and landed in the gulch below. Miss Richey was practically unhurt, but Rolph sustained concussion of the brain and spinal injuries. Hope for his recovery was held out today.

5000 TO BE DISMISSED FROM FILM FACTORY

Many Employes Living Here Affected by Plans of Great Producer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—It was reported here today following a visit of Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Pictures corporation, that the big Universal studio, employing in the neighborhood of 5000, would shut down production of new pictures upon completion of the present production program.

Laemmle was en route to Los Angeles today and was expected to announce his company's plans there.

The Universal shut down follows closely that of the Famous-Players-Lasky corporation and is said to be due to a desire for readjustment of conditions in the motion picture world.

Those under contract are not affected by the shutdown, it was said.

Hundreds of Glendale residents who are employed at Universal City will be affected by any shut down, it is said.

Chalmer D. Day, chairman of the ticket committee, reported that he and his associates had decided to enlarge the committee to twenty-five, and to canvass the city systematically, with Broadway and Brand boulevard as the dividing lines.

Mrs. A. G. Reily, representing the Twentieth Century club of Eagle Rock, reported that the ticket sale is progressing favorably in that district.

Reviving Budget Issue
Supreme Court Decision
Will Wood Quashed
'Mysterious Figures'

By Gil A. Cowan

Today we are going to give the stage budget "the air." Some of our contemporary editorial writers, who did not attend the session of the legislature six months ago, now are aroused to the fact that the new budget act was the jawbreaker over which the keenest lawyers, politicians and newspaper men tried to masticate, and finally left it to the learned judges.

Regarding the recent supreme court decision The San Diego Union says:

"No—the supreme court of the state of California is not striking any blow at education in this state, through its decision upholding Governor Richardson's veto of the 'extra' budget appropriations for the department of education. This isn't a blow at education. It's a blow at politics. It just means that a little more of the money set aside by California for its educational system will be devoted to education, and a little less of it will be devoted to political payrolls.

"Of course, the leading politician of the department of education fought this veto quite bitterly, in the highest court of the land. The veto thinned out his resources in political plums—left him less money than he really 'needed,' perhaps, in order to keep the salary hunters in line—and he felt it was wrong, all wrong. That $21,877 of the people's money could have been used very nicely at this critical time, when all the old-line politicians of the state are united in a frenzied effort to inject a little solidarity into the 'remnants' of the Johnson-Stephens machine. Nothing like $21,877—or any other tidy sum in legal tender—when you're trying to inject some solidarity!

"The legislature and the governor, under the state budget law, had provided salaries and expenses for the state board of education and the state superintendent of schools. These appropriations were, like the rest of the economy budget, pared to the limit consistent with efficiency. They were enough to run the office—no more. There wasn't very much, at least, to play politics with.

"In quest of additional funds, the educational politicians lobbied through a provision requiring that teachers' college funds and the funds of other special schools should be taxed 1 per cent—that's what it amounted to—for the benefit of the 'general administrative offices.' The governor vetoed this provision. Willie Wood fought the veto. The supreme court quashed Willie Wood. That's all.

"Willie Wood has maintained that the teachers' college didn't have enough to live on, under the budget. Yet it took the supreme court of the state to keep Willie Wood from taking $21,877 away from them. Such is consistency. In politics.

"No need to condemn Wood too harshly, however. With certain limits he has a right to push his political fortunes to the best of his ability, despite the fact that he is employed by the people of California to administer their school system. Machine politics depend on salary rolls. Wood was boosting the salary rolls. He was thereby boosting his own political power.

"In this particular instance, the governor decided that Mr. Wood's political power was costing the state a little too much money. Mr. Wood, of course, thought otherwise. The supreme court decided that the governor was right. A defeat for Wood. A victory for education."

On the other side of the fence, however, we find the San Bernardino Sun, which opposed Governor Richardson in his campaign, talking about "mysterious figures" when it says:

"Every time we hear state finances discussed we feel that we know less about them than before. There seems to be so much involved, so many dips, spurs and angles over, under and around which pleaders for one cause and another may dodge, that the wayfaring man throws up his hands. A group of San Bernardino people yesterday had the pleasure of listening to Mrs. Nellie Brewer Pierce, the strongest member of Governor Richardson's State Board of Control and the brains of the budget which was prepared for submission to the Legislature last January. Naturally and properly, her appearance was for the purpose of defending the budget, yet it is to be doubted whether a fraction of those who heard carried away any very definite ideas of state financing, nor did she at any time state the total cost of state government as outlined in the budget, although she tossed big figures about promiscuously. Doubtless those who carried them away were under the impression that the largest one she used, $100,716,000, might be the total cost of state government for two years. For, of course, the budget always covers a two-year period.

"But even that was not or is not the cost of it. As a matter of fact, by the budget prepared by Mrs. Pierce and other members of the State Board of Control, and by Governor Richardson submitted to the Legislature, the absolutely grand total of state expenditures for the two-year period was fixed at $116,000,315.56. About $80,000,000 of that is the budget the Legislature was asked to pass. The rest of it comes from revenues through scores of agencies by which the state collects fees. It seems like a big sum of money. It is. But if people are to be challenged about the cost of state government, why not give the exact and total figures? Whether it is so large is largely a relative matter, and we might be almost as sarcastic as Mrs. Pierce over her analysis showing that the cost of state government has mounted to the unbelievable average of $13.11 per capita in California! Is there anybody who really believes that he does not get $13.11 worth of government out of this state in the year for himself and the members of his family?

"At the end of the first year of this administration, next June 30, some totals can be made up which will show whether for the year the state has spent less or more than in former fiscal years, but until then the wayfaring man might as well throw up his hands. It all goes to the point made by Mrs. Pierce herself. Figures do not amount to so much as what one does with them."

SOCIAL EVENTS

Halloween Shower

With "Anticipated Happiness" as the keynote of the elaborate affair, Mrs. E. U. Emery and her daughter, Miss Olive Bell Emery, entertained Saturday night at their home, 329 North Kenwood street, complimenting Miss Mary King, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. E. King, of Hollywood, whose marriage to Gilbert Emery is announced to take place November 15.

The Halloween motif, carried out in a most artistic manner in the black and yellow of the Halloween colors, was used throughout the home. Masses of marigolds centered the tables in living room and dining room and festoons of black and yellow were carried from the chandelier to the corners of the room. The mantel was banked with coreopsis and marigolds, while "humpbacked" cats, witches and bats stared from the walls or swung from the draperies.

The guests were met at the door by a ghost, while a second ghost directed them to follow the yellow light which took the guests to the living room. A mysterious knock at the door leading from the reception hall was answered and a witch stood there and in answer to the surprised inquiry, replied: "I am the witch of Happiness, Anticipated Happiness," and peering into the faces of the guests recited:

"Where is that face that is all aglow,
Every one in this room would like to know,
A witch has impish powers to guess
A heart filled with anticipated happiness."

The witch evidently found the right face for pausing before Miss King the witch continued:

"O! O! This is the dear girl, I know,
Her happiness she could not help but show,
Come with me to the witches' dell
Where your fortune of happiness I'll tell.

The witch conducted Miss King and the guests across the hall to the curtained doors of the music room and as the witch uttered the magic words:

"Part, part! You curtains her fate to show
And round that cauldron you must go
'Tis filled with presents to the brim, I see,
Which is just the happiness I wished for thee."

The lights flashed on and a witch's cauldron was seen suspended over a glowing fire filled with gifts of linen, silver, pictures and vases for the bride-to-be.

Later refreshments of individual pumpkin pies with whipped cream surmounted with candy black cats, doughnuts, apples and coffee were served. The favors were yellow and black baskets, filled with Halloween candies, with a witch perched on the handle.

Fortune telling was the diversion of the evening, such sentiments as "A sprite just whispered in your ear, you'll be engaged before the year" and "you will be married twice, won't that be nice?" being the favorites.

In the Halloween games the first prize, a china mayonnaise set, was won by Mrs. Clark Christie, and the booby prize, salt and pepper set, by Miss Agnes Caldwell. Mrs. Christie and Miss Caldwell presented their prizes to Miss King.

The ghosts were Miss Anna Merriken and Miss Agnes Caldwell. Mrs. Alvin Brown took the part of the witch in a most realistic way.

The guests invited were: Miss Mary King and her mother, Mrs. E. E. King, and Miss Fern Gardiner of Hollywood; Mrs. Carl Tuffts, Brentwood; Miss Dorothy Hogan, Miss Martha Carlisle, Miss Alice Scallin, Los Angeles; Mrs. Ralph W. Lusby, San Fernando; Mesdames Frank C. Many of the guests came in costume and prizes for the most clever characterizations were awarded to Dr. T. P. Noehle and John MacGregor.

Music for dancing was furnished by the Kelley Shrine club orchestra.

Wieners and marshmallows were toasted over an open grate fire outdoors, and a buffet lunch of cider, doughnuts, pumpkin pie, popcorn and coffee was served.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"Strangers of the Night," a Fred Niblo production from the stage play "Captain Applejack," shows at the Glendale theatre today and tomorrow, following its highly successful opening Sunday. A strong all-star cast has been assembled for this sumptuous production by the man who made "Scaramouche," with his charming wife, Enid Bennett, in the lead.

Working on the story of the timid Britisher who becomes a pirate and roams the Spanish Main, Fred Niblo has embellished it with beautiful photography and magnificent settings. The picture is presented by Louis B. Meyer, through Metro.

"Strangers of the Night" will thrill spectators with its intense drama and sweep them into gales of laughter, as Matt Moore, in the role of the nefarious Captain Applejack, fights through the mystery of the treasure hidden in his ancestral castle and swaggers aboard his pirate craft.

THE GATEWAY

"Zaza," which opened at the Gateway theatre Sunday with Gloria Swanson in the lead, continues today and tomorrow to offer patrons its brilliant coloratura of swift action and gorgeous costumes and sets.

Supporting the star is such a company of splendid players as H. B. Warner, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Roger Lytton and Ivan Linow. The picture was produced for Paramount by Allan Dwan, maker of "Robin Hood."

"Zaza gives Miss Swanson just the vehicle she has been seeking to set off her vivid personality to the best advantage. Long a starring vehicle of Madame Rejane on the Paris stage, this play has offered many actresses its mantle of glory. This mantle the present star wears as graciously as any of her predecessors.

The story, in brief, is of a little cabaret player who is showered by attentions from a duke, and who later reaches the pinnacle of fame as an actress.

REV. LEO KLINE ANALYZES LOVE

Says Apostle Paul Showed Us Component Parts of Vital Force

Declaring that the conception of "Love" as given to the Apostle Paul had nothing in common with what it means to the average person of today, the Rev. Leo C. Kline of the Central Avenue Methodist church delivered a forceful address Sunday morning on "The Analysis of Love."

"As the chemist analyzes the soil," said Rev. Kline, "and discerns the various gases and minerals which compose it, so the Apostle Paul takes the thing we call Love and shows us its component parts.

"We discover that love is not the weak, vacillating, wishy-washy sentiment often called by the name of love. It is not the unholy lust that burns in the bodies of men and causes more trouble in the world than any other one thing. It is not merely affection.

Dominating Force

"It is a living, vital, dominating force which dominates the individual in his attitude toward God and man and which causes him to constantly maintain a spirit of good will toward all men. It creates within man a desire to serve and to sacriffice for others. It is religion in action. It is the very heart and soul of Christianity.

"This love is manifested, not by words, but by character and conduct. It is evidenced by patience, kindness, generosity, humility, courtesy, unselfishness, good temper, pureness of mind and by sincerity. These are the evidences to the world that the professing Christian has the love he professes. This is God's type of love. This is the more excellent way. This is the secret of a happy life.

"Without it the apostle says, 'I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal, and, though I possess all wisdom, knowledge and faith, without this love I am nothing. And, though I give all my possessions to a needy world, and give my body to be burned, and have not love, it profiteth me nothing."

Forbes to Take Stand in Graft Probe Defense

known he desires a "thorough and fair" investigation of all graft charges before any summary action. The president has instructed Attorney General Daugherty independently to investigate each accusation of graft before instituting criminal proceedings.

Colonel Forbes, supporting himself on a cane, was accompanied in his appearance at the hearing today by his attorney, Colonel James S. Easby-Smith, former judge advocate general in the A. E. F. Forbes plans to take the witness stand in his own defense as presentation of charges against him are concluded.

With Forbes and his counsel present, the hearing took on the appearance of a court martial. Senator Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee; Major General John F. O'Ryan, chief investigator, all members of O'Ryan's staff; Colonel Forbes and Colonel Easby-Smith won distinguished service medals.

Income Tax Secret

The testimony prepared by Senate investigators on the Livermore, Cal., site was said to include not only extravagance, but, in addition, $25,000 on the purchase price in such a manner as to involve graft. The site was bought from Lucien B. Johnson of San Francisco for $105,000. When filing an income tax return, it was said, Johnson refused to pay $25,000 on the $105,000, reporting it was "paid to other persons." For this reason, Johnson was summoned by the committee as a witness.

DR. E. L. SETTLES WITH DR. YOUNG

Glendalian Grows Into Big Practice Here Following 8 Years' Residence

Dr. Eugene Lee Settles, now associated with Dr. T. C. Young, at 620 East Broadway, has been a Glendalian for eight years—grew up here in fact. While he was studying at the University of Missouri and later at Harvard University in Massachussetts, he spent his summers in this city.

"Ever since I was knee high to a duck, I've wanted to be a doctor," is the way he explains his choice of profession. "I was always interested in chemistry and anatomy."

For the past five years he has been fitting himself for his present work with Dr. Young, spending his summers in the office of the older doctor. Graduating from the University of Missouri with the degree of A. B. in 1917, he took A. M. from that institution in 1918 and M. D., from Harvard in 1922.

Last year Dr. Settles was a resident physician at the Los Angeles General Hospital and this year is on the attending staff of this institution. He is unmarried and lives with his mother, Mrs. Stella M. Settles, at 311 North Belmont street.

Prior to 1915, when they came to Glendale, Mrs. Settles and her son lived in Carrolton, Mo. They came to this city because S. J. Reed, Dr. Settles' grandfather, was a good booster and lived on a ranch near Burbank, later moving with his wife, the doctor's grandmother, to a close-in location on Cedar street.

Dr. Settles is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity of the University of Missouri and a member of the Sigma Xi fraternity of Harvard university, the latter an honorary medical research order.

PASTOR ADVISES GOSSIPING GOSPEL

Rev. W. E. Edmonds Urges Harvest of Souls Here at Home

The morning service of the Glendale Presbyterian church was held in the Glendale Theatre. The occasion was the Annual Thank-offering service under the auspices of the Women's Missionary society. The pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, used as his sermon subject, "Gossiping the Gospel."

The text was Acts 8:4, "They . . . went everywhere preaching the word," or as a modern translation gives it, "They . . . went everywhere gossiping the gospel" as one who runs from house to house telling news. Rev. Edmonds stated:

It was a sad day in the early Christian church when one of their number was stoned to death because of his faith in Jesus Christ which he openly preached. It was not preaching as we think of it. Wherever they went they talked about it, telling the good news, literally gossiping the gospel. If the world is ever brought to the feet of Christ it will largely be through just telling the story, gossiping the gospel.

Four Parts to Picture

"Four parts of a picture are set before us here. The first is an Oriental scene. In the foreground is 'Jacob's well.' By it, at the noonday hour, there sits a man tired and weary with a long journey. Approaching the well is a Samaritan woman of shaded reputation. With Divine tenderness He looks upon her and asks, 'Give me to drink.' Here is Jesus Christ the Son of the Highest, Lord of Glory, gossiping the gospel.

"The second part of the picture unfolds. We behold the Samaritan woman. She is a slave to the passions of men, a chattel to be bartered and sold like animals to the highest bidder. She stands today as a representative of a world of broken-hearted women. Jesus Christ came to gossip with women, not about them, to tell them the good news of an uplifting gospel.

"The third part of the picture is in the background, fields of grain whitening for harvest. The door is open. The field is whitening for harvest. The Moslem world is open as never before. It is white to harvest. China is reaching out for western civilization, which is of course Christian civilization. The harvest cannot wait. Pray ye . . . thrust forth gossipers of the gospel."

"The last part of the picture shows so few reapers. One is in a great field which he can never gather by himself. Another dies at his task. Others are sick and broken in body. The question is not whether the heathen at home or abroad can be saved without the gospel but whether I can be saved if I do not do something to help gossip the gospel. It is a personal obligation."

$800,000 SALES IN EIGHT WEEKS

Country Club Highlands Is Attracting Investors, Manager Reports

Over $800,000 worth of property at Country Club Highlands has been placed in the hands of Glendale and Los Angeles investors in the brief space of eight weeks, reports Marvin Smith, sales manager for Senator Benjamin C. Sheldon of Hollywood and A. G. Smith of this city, owners and subdividers of the tract, which is located on Pico boulevard midway between Los Angeles and Santa Monica.

"Throngs come out to Country Club Highlands every day in the week," says Marvin Smith," and on Sundays the crowds fairly swamp our organization. These streams of visitors are not merely curious. They come out fully prepared to buy, and our records show that in the great majority of cases they do buy.

New Sales Record

"Some idea of the many visitors who visit the tract, and they are not mere sightseers either, can be obtained from our rapidly mounting sales record. Each succeeding week has seen these sales mount higher and higher until today they have set what is thought to be a new record in the history of Los Angeles subdivisions. However, the most convincing part about these record sales is that they have been the result not of an opening boom, but of a gradual building confidence and appreciation on the part of investors and homeseekers as to the opportunities offered in Country Club Highlands. Sales for the first few weeks were not exceedingly high, and our total week sales did not reach astounding figures until profitable resales by early purchasers convinced thinking men and women who had studied real estate conditions, that this property possessed exceptional opportunities both as an investment and a homesite.

Figures Are Given

"Our sales for the first week were $75,000. The following week they reached $85,000, mounting to $100,000 the third week. The fourth week sales set a new high mark of $105,000 and the fifth week the record figure of $135,000 was reached. Throughout the sixth, seventh and eighth weeks, in spite of the fact that a big portion of the property had already been disposed of, sales maintained a steady and even pace, each week the total running over $100,000. In short, in the brief space of eight weeks we have placed in the hands of Los Angeles investors and homebuilders over $803,000 worth of property—a weekly sales average of over $100,000.

These figures in themselves show the high esteem with which property in Country Club Highlands is held by Los Angeles real estate purchasers. They show that this confidence is the result of a steady and gradual growth in the demand for property here and not caused by any momentary boom. This increasing demand has been caused by appreciation that property in the path of Los Angeles' rapid march to the sea is bound to be sound, and the rapid resales that have already netted early purchasers handsome profits.

Home Atmosphere

"Though the investment feature is somewhat paramount in the minds of purchasers in Country Club Highlands of late more and more buyers have been influenced in their decision to buy here by the exceptional home atmosphere. The fact that Country Club Highlands is higher than any other surrounding property and so can not be shut off from the ocean and is above the fog belt, and its location near three of the city's finest Country Clubs has caused many to believe that it will soon be one of the most beautiful residential districts in the southland.

"Considerable building activity is already evident at Country Club Highlands although the tract has only been on sale for the short time of eight weeks. Already frames and initial excavation work for the construction of one group of ten houses have been completed. With this actual construction work going on and many more purchasers preparing for building in the near future the tract has taken on a most busy aspect."

OLIVE MIDDLETON QUEEN OF SCIOTS

Circus Ends Saturday Night With Good Sum in Charity Fund

The Sciots' circus is over and the big tent has vanished from the block it occupied on North Brand boulevard between Milford and Doran streets, but pleasant memories linger, for it was a big success in many ways, pouring hundreds of dollars into the charity fund of Pyramid No. 39, reports Toparch H. M. Bennett, chairman of the committee in charge.

The race between Miss Olive Middleton and Miss Margaret Longley for queen was close from start to finish, ending with the coronation of the former. Following are the vote totals:

Olive Middleton	16,026
Margaret Longley	15,094
Gladys Kattleman	4,073
Corinne Orff	1,970

As a result of the success of the circus, the Sciots' band will now go to San Diego in full uniform for the state convention of the order, November 14-15, states G. O. Russell, organizer and manager of this 52-piece aggregation of harmonists who have won unstinted praise by their fine playing.

A total of approximately $50 was raised for the widows' relief fund at Saturday afternoon's special benefit performance, states Toparch Bennett.

A child's parasol and a number of keys on a ring were found at the circus and are being held for identification at 600 South Brand boulevard.

2. The committee make no effort to reduce the amount of reparations due France.

3. The committee must agree to continue the occupation of the Ruhr.

It is learned that the Belgian reply to the British proposals backs up France's position limiting the conference of experts to a mere inquiry into Germany's resources.

Delay Study of Note

PARIS, Oct. 29.—From a reliable source it was learned this evening that the inter-allied reparations commission at its meeting tomorrow will postpone consideration of the German note.

GETTING TOO FAT? TRY THIS—REDUCE

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets and follow directions. One dollar is the price the world over. Get them from your own druggist or send price direct to Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. By doing this you will be safe from harmful drugs and be able to reduce steadily and easily, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise.—Advertisement.

On Porch or Deck

THE paint that goes forth to sea on the decks of ships must be able to withstand the blistering heat of the sun's rays, the driving rain, and the dashing of waves over the ships' decks in storms. The porch, too, must brave the elements and yet keep spick and span to "welcome the coming, speed the parting guest."

BASS-HUETER
Porch and Deck Paint

answers the needs of both home and ship. BASS-HUETER Paints are not only used by owners of yachts, launches and motor boats, but by the United States Shipping Board and a number of privately owned lines. While the chief use of BASS-HUETER Porch and Deck Paint is for porches and steps, you will realize that a paint we can recommend for the deck of a ship is bound to prove successful for your home.

When you next need to repaint these entrances to your home, insist on BASS-HUETER Porch and Deck Paint. It comes in several shades of gray and tan, as well as drab and light brown. Full directions for applying are on every can.

Our booklet "Paint Facts" or "The Way to Beautiful Homes" will be mailed free upon request. It tells how paint should be used and suggests various color combinations for interior and exterior painting.

INDEX TO COMMUNITY LOYALTY PAGE

PAGE 4 OF THIS ISSUE OF THE EVENING NEWS

Of course when you want to buy merchandise of any kind you are anxious to patronize a Glendale dealer. When you wish to employ professional skill it is your desire to secure a local man. When repair work is needed it is to your advantage to have the work done by mechanics near home.

The object of this index column is to refer you to the GLENDALE LOYALTY PAGE on Page 4, of this issue, where you will find listed a large number of merchants, tradesmen and professional men who are real boosters for Glendale. While the Community Loyalty Page will appear in The Evening News one day every week, yet readers are advised to cut it out and hold it for reference for the purpose of ascertaining names and locations of business firms in Glendale.

Real Boosters Work Together for a Common Purpose —A Greater Glendale

Boosting is a product peculiarly adapted to our soil, climate and habitat. Nowhere else in the world does this form of enthusiasm flourish so well as in Southern California and nowhere in Southern California are there more loyal boosters than in Glendale.

A Glendale Evening News correspondent abroad writes that the people of Europe tell tourists there is nothing to see when the great art galleries, famous old castles and ruins are everywhere about. "The people of Europe don't know such a word as 'boost'," he writes. The writer, while in a Northern California city of considerable size and importance, said to one of the citizens, "I'm going out to see your city," and the response was, "Well, you won't see much." Imagine a citizen of Glendale telling a visitor "There is nothing to see," or "You won't see much."

Contrast the incidents above with the trek of the Glendale real estate men to the state capital and the enthusiasm with which they sang the praises of their home city.

Community boosting must be the outgrowth of Community Loyalty. You must be imbued with Community pride before you can boost. But cheering for Glendale is not the only outgrowth of Community Loyalty. It is easy to join the parade and cheer when the band is playing and the banners waving and enthusiasm is rife, but the true booster has just as much pride in his home town when the excitement has died down and everything is quiet. The real booster is true to Glendale when no one is looking at him. He works for Glendale, talks for Glendale and spends his money in Glendale.

The firms represented on this page are real Glendale boosters. They are imbued with the spirit of Community Loyalty. They know the interests of Glendale can best be advanced by all working together for a common purpose. Teamwork is as essential in Community Building as in football. These men and women ask your trade and your co-operation in building a Greater Glendale.

THIS page appears in The Glendale Evening News once a week. On another page is a classified index which explains the location of the cards on this page. The building of a greater community sentiment is the purpose of this page. Co-operation between the merchant and the buyer put into actual practice is a community builder.

Government Approves Postoffice Proposal

Official acceptance of the Lewis Monroe proposition for the erection of Glendale's new postoffice at 414 East Broadway was received this morning by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, who has notified Mr. Monroe of the government's approval.

Work on the new building is to start as soon as the plans can be drawn up and adopted, and the architects are now engaged in preparing these plans from sketches submitted to them by Postmaster Jackson and his staff, showing the needs that will have to be cared for in laying out the plan of the building.

The building will cost, it is estimated, $35,000, the equipment another $15,000, and the structure is to be ready inside ninety days after the start of the work.

For Younger Set

One of the parties which has attracted much attention among the younger set was the fancy-dress and masquerade with which Miss Marjorie Snow entertained Saturday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Snow of 609 North Maryland avenue.

Bouquets of autumn flowers and crepe paper festoons in orange and black were used effectively in the decorations. Quaint and charming costumes of the guests added a colorful touch to the affair which was altogether delightful.

A buffet supper was enjoyed at a late hour and dancing and Halloween games were in order both before and after.

Dance Success

Over fifty couples took part in the masquerade ball Saturday night at the American Legion hall on East Broadway. Roy Fortier and Lou Ganger of the dance committee didn't forget one entertainment detail and they were complimented on the success of the affair.

There were two prizes awarded for the clever costumes. Miss Hooper in a Chinese costume won the string of French beads, donated by T. Kuranaga, of the Japan Art and Tea store; and Mrs. Estelle Groff as a ballet girl won the box of candy donated by the Pope candy store.

Hallowe'en decorations and refreshments were features of the affair.

A program was given by the following pupils of the Cavanah school, Jane McLane, Ruth Stein and Margarite Anderson.

Explains Etchings

Mrs. John W. Cotton is to be the speaker at the metineg of the Thursday club on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft at 1423 South Brand boulevard.

Mrs. Cotton will speak on "Etchings" and will illustrate her talk with black and white and acqua tone etchings made by her husband. She has given this talk several times during the past year before Glendale organizations and it has proven both entertaining and educational.

The meeting will begin at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. E. V. Bacon, club president in charge.

Dance Tickets

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of ways and means of the Tuesday afternoon club, who is general chairman of the big Halloween dinner dance to be held at the clubhouse tomorrow night, announces that tickets for the dance can be obtained at the A. H. Dibbern jewelry store on North Brand boulevard.

Brilliant Dance

A company of brilliantly costumed young people were received Saturday night at the D. E. Baxter home at 910 North Brand boulevard for the delightful Halloween costume dancing party given by Miss Mary Baxter.

The home with its gay Halloween decorations proved an ideal setting for the gathering of the various characters represented by the guests.

There were two prizes awarded for the most clever costume, Shirley Preston being awarded one for his portrayal of a girl, and Olive Mapes winning the other one for her pirate characterization.

Guests were Bernedette and Dorothea Becker, Marion Dewey, Margaret Farmer, Mary Blue, Betty Heustis, Marjorie and Ramona Neilson, Edith Thompson, Marjorie Phillips, Jean Ingram, Olive Mapes and Jack Winger, Shirley Preston, Willard Roberts, Horatio Butts, Don Whitaker, Louis Quimette, Harry Chaffee, Dugal Blue, Francis Morgan, Herbert Ingle, Charles Flynn and Horace Hosford.

J. O. C. Guests

Prominent among a number of delightful affairs which have been given during the week was the costume party given Friday night by the members of the J. O. C. class of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church at the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Robinson of 342 West Milford street.

Graceful bouquets of autumn flowers were used effectively in the decorations, which were carried out in the Halloween colors. Pumpkin faces, shadowy ghosts and mystic symbols were much in evidence.

There were about thirty-five members present, whose ghost costumes added to the spooky atmosphere of the affair.

Late in the evening refreshments were served and the symbolic favors were presented to each guest.

The committee in charge of the affair included Mrs. W. H. Robinson, Mrs. George Moore, Mrs. F. B. Maynard and Mrs. Roberta Wilson.

Trio Hurt When Car Gets Double Smash

Roger Clark, 631 North Orange street, Mrs. A. E. Flowers and Mrs. A. M. Worthington, of the Castle apartments, were injured early Sunday morning on Michigan boulevard when the car driven by Clark was forced off of the pavement.

According to a report to the police, Clark's car was struck by another machine at an intersection, causing it to swerve in the path of a machine coming up in the rear.

The injured were taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital where their injuries, which are not believed to be of a serious character, received attention.

Physicians' Club Will Meet Wednesday

The Glendale Physicians' club is to have a luncheon meeting Wednesday noon at the Egyptian Village, where they will hear an address by Dr. Paul E. Bowers of Los Angeles on "Relationship of Mental Defects to Crime."

Dr. F. M. Rossiter, president, states that all physicians in Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank are invited to attend.

At the last meeting of the club Dr. Frank Thompson was elected secretary.

PASADENA BEATS GLENDALE STARS

Meusel Brothers Given Key to City; Bob Drives a Homer Over Fence

Glendale's All-Stars, composed of major leaguers wintering in the south, lost to the Pasadena Merchants at Tournament Park yesterday, when, coming from behind in the ninth, the Merchants took advantage of two hits, a walk and two sacrifices to push three runs over the rubber and win by the score of 4-3. The game was a thriller and was witnessed by a crowd estimated at 10,000.

The presence in the Glendale line-up of the two Meusel brothers, "Bob" of the Yanks and "Irish" of the Giants, was a feature attraction. Statz, the fleet-footed gardener of the Cubs, performed in the outfield for Glendale also. Carl Sawyer, Vernon comedian, kept the crowd in good humor with his antics.

Hollis Thurston, on the mound for Glendale, pitched good ball. The Merchants shoved over one run in the third on hits by McNabb and Hess. He tightened up and then allowed only one hit until relieved by Thomas, in the fifth. Thomas blanked the Merchants until the ninth, when, with the score 3 to 1 against them, Pasadena scored three runs and won the game.

The game was marked by the attendance of many notables. Before the game the Meusel brothers were presented with the keys of Glendale by Jesse Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and City Manager W. H. Reeves. As a token of his appreciation, no doubt, Bob, the lanky outfielder of the Yanks, clouted a homer in the fifth over the right field wall, one of the longest hits ever seen at Tournament Park. There was no one on at the time.

Casaba Passers Start Work at Occidental

Along with other athletic activities at Occidental, basketball practice has again started and a big successful year is predicted as few of the veterans have graduated.

Casaba practice started in earnest last Friday afternoon with about twenty men on the floor throwing wild shots and panting continuously through the workout. Captain Harold Wagnor is in charge of the pre-season practice and will see that the men keep busy.

No coach has been selected as yet, but a capable mentor will be on duty soon. It I is planned to hold two workouts a week—Tuesday and Friday afternoons in the girls' gym.

Some of the lettermen back this year who will be candidates for the varsity are Ebers, Wagnor, Johnson, Bennetts, Cosgrove, Hadlock, Norton, Walker, Sacket, Rigby and McNary will be missing. Among last year's Frosh melon tossers who are going to fight for a position include Ed Chandler, Bullet Hazeltine, Bill McInnis, Eugene Davis, Bill Fordham, Art Cherrie, Carl Link.

The chances for a freshmen championship five are enough to make anyone blink. There are more basketball stars in the freshmen class at Oxy than there are foothill heroes. Some of them that are known around Los Angeles are Solly Miskin, two years varsity at Hollywood and captain of the championship City League basketball team last year; Neale Archer, also of the same school; the Black twins, Howard and Charles, are Pasadena high men who are born basketball players; Archie Strayer, Pasadena lightweight player; Gregory of Fullerton; Deaver, Condie, are from Puente; McFadden hails from Santa Ana, besides a raft of other excellent players.

Bears Cubs Lose to Whittier, Score 14-12

By WALDO E. COWAN
Written for The Evening News

Trying to punt without a punter—that spelled defeat for the Southern branch, University of California, varsity, 14 to 12, against the strong Whittier eleven Saturday on Moore field.

Playing with true California spirit, the Cub varsity outplayed and outfought the Poet aggregation, but Lady Luck seemed to "butt" in at the inopportune minute.

Whittier's touchdowns came from an intercepted pass and a blocked punt, while the Cubs earned, only after hard work, their twelve digits. Failing to convert goal killed the Cub chances to tie the score.

Coach Jimmy Cline by putting into practice the well-known slogan of Andy Smith, "Play the kicking game," caused the disaster of the afternoon. If the Cubs had had a good kicker it would have been alright, but with poor punting, and the wind blowing the ball back, the kicking game was futile.

Although defeated in its first game, the Southern branch will be worth watching when no fit wind blows 'em up.

CONN DEVELOPING SCRAPPY ELEVEN

Freshmen Football Squad at Occidental Have Coach With Reputation

By LARRY RAYMOND
Written for The Evening News

Coach Tuffy Conn, mentor of the Occidental freshmen football squad is doing wonders to develop a nifty machine that has power to smash its way to victory during the conference season. There is little doubt but that Tuffy Conn's Peagreeners will annihilate Calteck, Pomona, and the S. B. U. C. yearling teams. His team is now rounding into its prime and ready to go after any and everything.

The Tiger babes are fortunate in having such a great football player as Coach Conn to teach them the latest all-American stuff. He is a coach par-excellence and will present a wicked dish to other elevens. Tuffy Conn has returned to Oxy after a year's absence. Two years ago he guided the frosh to high honors tied with Pomona frosh. It is no tie this year, he says—it's a Tiger victory.

Has Reputation

Coach Tuffy Conn has a reputation both as a coach and player. During 1915 he was a member of the state championship football team at Pasadena high school that ran wild through the prep football ranks of the southland, piling up huge lop-sided scores at every turn. His team mates would pile up five or six touch downs and call it a day. Conn played halfback on that wonder team of the south. He was the best fighter on the squad, doing sensational work at running, kicking, passing and tackling, at all of which he was supreme.

He graduated from P. H. S. and went to Oregon Agricultural college and then came the world war. He later played on the world's Champion Canton professional eleven, being the star halfback. Two years ago he brought his own All-Star professionals to Tournament Park for a wild game with his former team mates from Canton, Ohio. His team was defeated 10 to 0. It was Coach Conn who developed some of the best players on the present Tiger varsity. In fact most of the first stringers were on the Frosh eleven coached by Tuffy two years ago.

Priaulx, Lindquist, Davidson, Ebers, Shoaf, Ridderhoff, Creswell, played on that team.

TROJANS REGAIN GRIDIRON FAVOR

Defeat of Cardinals Places U. S. C. Eleven Back in Sport Limelight

By "DOC" McGILLIS
Of The Evening News Staff

"Gloomy Gus" Henderson and his fighting bunch of University of Southern California football warriors are once more occupying a bright spot on the western gridiron horizon. After being mercilessly relegated to the mediocre class by scores of so-called "experts" all over the country as a result of their disappointing 22 to 0 University of Washington defeat a week previous, the determined Cardinal and Gold athletes "rose up" to their normal frame of mind Saturday afternoon and spanked the cocky Stanford Cardinals to the tune of 14 to 7.

It was a glorious victory, a sort of self-satisfying demonstration of prowess by a squad which had inadvertently been termed the "under dog." But there was nothing else for them to do but win. How could they have returned to their loyal student body, more than three thousand of whom made the northern trip, with a second reversal in as many weeks?

Backs to the Wall

In going over the detailed report of the contest, U. S. C.'s indomitable "back to the wall" spirit is pictured throughout, particularly after Stanford pushed over her first and only touchdown in the opening. Bracing up from their apparent slump in Seattle, the Cardinal and Gold forward wall lived up to expectations, and even exceeded them by exhibiting a charging line such as has never been seen on the coast. The fact that a half dozen Stanford punts were blocked and at least that many more hurried up during the game, is proof of the above statement. Seldom does a person see more than one blocked punt in a game, and when several times that number are stopped the opposing line deserves a world of credit.

Adams Wins Laurels

"Holly" Eugene Adams, stumpy second string center who was substituting in the pivot position for Cot Rice, was easily the individual hero of the battle. Breaking through the line time and time again this human dynamo, who is probably no longer a substitute, succeeded in blocking three of Nevers' punts, picking the ball up twice and falling across the line for the only Trojan touchdowns of the game. Other outstanding U. S. C. players were Harold Adams, Buster Dupuy, Hawkins and Riddle.

Nevers Is Star

Ernie Nevers, Stanford's 200-pound fullback, was easily the star of the Cardinal eleven. Making most of their yards through line bucks, doing all of their punting (when permitted to do so by the U. S. C. line) and playing the best defensive game on the field, he proved to the public that he is every bit as good a man as was Morrison, California's 1922 fullback.

Now that it's all over "Gloomy Gus" has his cohorts back in town and is planning an extensive training campaign against the invasion of the California Bears on November 10, when every grid fan and his brother in the Southland (and several thousand from the north), will turn out to see the most interesting game of the season.

DOLL'S HOME RUN DEFEATS ICE MEN

Caseys Nose Out Pasadena in Eleventh Inning of Sensational Game

The Pasadena Ice team cut no ice in Glendale yesterday, the local K. of C. nine winning in the eleventh frame of a close game when R. Doll knocked a homer through center to the railroad tracks, the lengthiest wallop ever registered on the Park and San Fernando grounds. Final score, 4 to 3.

The fielding of both teams was sensational throughout and "Lefty" Bacon, who hurled them for the locals, allowed the Icemen but 6 hits and fanned 15. In the eighth, ninth and tenth innings he struck them out in 1-2-3 order.

This winds up the Glendale K. of C.'s Independent season. Next Sunday they play their first schedule game in the San Fernando Valley league. Box score:

Glendale	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	1	0	1—4

Y. M. C. A. Worker Blind From Chinese Weapons

BERKELEY, Oct. 29.—Blinded by powder from rifles in the hands of Chinese federal troops, Roy Service, representative of the University of California Y. M. C. A. in China, is recovering in the mountains, near Chungking, according to word received today by Service's brother-in-law, Dr. F. H. McNair of Berkeley.

According to Dr. McNair, Service was mistaken for a bandit and fired upon by federal soldiers. Service will recover, it was said.

VALLEY NEWS

VETS' HOSPITAL TO COST $1,000,000

500 Acre Tract Bought for U. S. Plant North of San Fernando

A $1,000,000 hospital for ex-service men will be built by the federal government on a 500-acre tract of land just purchased a mile north of San Fernando, between Pacoima canyon and the Olive View sanitarium.

Ground for the structure will be broken within the next thirty days, following a recent personal inspection tour of the property by Major General Hines, accompanied by the congressional and American Legion hospitalization committees.

The above information has been confirmed from Washington. The property on which the hospital is erected was purchased for $100,000, from the Ford-Craig ranch people. The buildings to be erected will be of the "college unit" type, constructed of hollow tile.

The hospital will contain 250 beds and will be of the same general type as that now under construction at Livermore, near Oakland. When both new institutions are completed, Camp Kearny will be closed, is the word from Washington.

$400,000 For Roads

Of decided interest to all communities in the San Fernando valley is the information to the effect that an arrangement has been entered into between the Los Angeles Board of Public Works and the County Board of Supervisors, whereby $400,000 is to be turned over to the city by the county for the development and maintenance of city streets and boulevards serving as arteries for county traffic.

Of this sum, $50,000 will be advanced immediately, states Henry W. Wright, county supervisor. Plans for the expenditure of the $400,000 will be worked out in the near future by the Board of Public Works, Board of Supervisors, City Planning Commission and Regional Planning Commission.

Associated C. of C.

"The best dinner yet served in the valley" is the unanimous opinion of the Associated Chambers of Commerce representatives who Tuesday night, October 23, met at Chatsworth in the Women's clubhouse.

Every town in the San Fernando valley was represented, some of the delegates traveling thirty miles to be there, a sure indication of the enthusiasm these sessions are creating.

Among the reports heard was that of the water committee, in which it was stated the valley has 75,000 acres under irrigation from aqueduct water. Not so much water shortage as lack of facilities for distribution, was the verdict of the committee.

The recommendation was to appoint a committee of safety to keep in close touch with the city water department.

Big Scout Rally

Over 200 Boy Scouts, representing the thirteen troops in the San Fernando valley, participated in the first fall rally held at Van Nuys last Saturday, October 27, on the American Legion lots.

The competition opened at 1 o'clock with a knot-tieing contest and was followed by many sports and games. The affair was the first of three to be held in the valley this fall and winter.

GRAPPLERS HEAD CLUB'S PROGRAM

Hackenschmidt And Polk to Entertain Sport Fans On Tuesday's Card

The Polk-Hackenschmidt wrestling match, headliner on the Glendale Athletic club card at Hahn's auditorium, 109 North Brand boulevard, tomorrow night, will give mat fans an opportunity to see one of the best affairs of its kind ever staged in Glendale, according to Les Marston, matchmaker.

John Hackenschmidt is well known locally being a resident of this city. It was he, fans remember, who wrestled Bull Montana to an hour and a half draw on Labor Day. He is considered one of the best men in this department on the coast.

Joe Polk, A. E. F. champion, new sheik of filmland who plays in the movies under the name Poggi Nazzareno, has bested such stalwarts as Sam Clapham and Abe Kaplan and can be counted upon to put up a terrific struggle against the big Glendale wrestler.

Other numbers on tomorrow night's G. A. C. card include the following boxing preliminaries:

Jimmy Racer, of Glendale, vs. Ted Rose, of the local club; Jack Carr, of Glendale, vs. Battling Chico, of Lankershim, and Cecil Taylor, of Burbank, vs. Freddie Klagge, of Pasadena. Rose, Racer and Carr all got their men at last Tuesday's affray in Hahn's auditorium.

ARCADIA EXPOSITION

The program for the Arcadia Annual Exposition to be held at the U. S. Army Balloon School, Ross Field, November 27 to December 1, has practically been completed. One of the feature attractions will be the appearance of the famous Sherman Institute Indian Band from Riverside.

BURBANK

GOTHAMITES PLAN BURBANK COLONY

Ask Chamber of Commerce to Endorse Project And Set Value on Land

"Westward the star of empire takes its way" is once more proven a truism, in the organization of a colony of New Yorkers to settle in Burbank.

As a matter of fact, according to Charles H. Kline of the local Chamber of Commerce, the proposed colony is already out of the egg and growing fast. The chamber is in receipt of a communication from a company back in Manhattan, in charge of a subdivision on Central avenue near Pioneer avenue, this city, requesting that a value be put on the lots and endorsement be given the proposition.

After looking into the mater, Mr. Kline reports, the chamber was able to put its okeh on the land and to state that 50x135-foot lots there should run from $600 to $1,000.

Natives are therefore scanning the eastern horizon for the caravan that can be expected to arrive some time next spring.

Military Ball

The Palais Majestic will be the scene of a brilliant ball Wednesday night, November 7, under auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. All ex-service men will appear in dress uniforms. A feature of the program will be presentation of medals for foreign service.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars is comprised of those who have served in the army or navy of the United States in any foreign war. Committees in charge of the ball are as follows:

Ceremonial — Captain Tillson and Sergeant Bonnicksen.

Publicity — Charles Pomeroy, W. H. James and Mr. Coppersmith.

Finance—F. G. Walters, Lester B. Evans and a comrade also named Evans.

Yes, No Cafeteria!

Burbank repines under the unique distinction of having no cafeteria. With the closing of the Parker establishment at Tujunga and Verdugo avenues, owing to expiratiton of lease, the arts of tray-balancing and soup-juggling in this city promise to revert to waiters and waitresses.

Back east, a place of 10,000 could get along very nicely without a cafeteria. Thousands are doing it! But not so in sunny Southern California, where the cafeteria is as prevalent as the coupe and the tract office.

"Yes, we have no cafeteria!" Burbank is sadly singing today—and is thinking of putting her lyric woe "on the air."

Meanwhile Mr. and Mrs. Parker, proprietors of the late lamented self-service establishment, have parked their fixtures and are on a much-needed vacation. On their return, if a suitable location can be secured, they will unpack the trays and the soup bowls and Burbank will once more have a cafeteria.

Outdoor Party

A charming outdoor party, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sloan, corner of Eighth street and Raymond avenue, included the following Burbank guests: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Trout, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Blackmer, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Corwin, Mrs. E. J. Corwin, Mrs. H. Morton, Misses Betty Becker, Josephine Arterburn, Doris Burnette, Messrs. Thomas Arterburn, Kenneth Cooper and Walter Corwin.

There were, in addition, the following guests from Glendale: Dr. J. A. White, Lloyd White, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ashbaugh.

Will Review Work Of Glendale Commandery

Accomplishments of Glendale Commandery No. 52, Knights Templar, will be recorded tonight at the annual inspection in the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard, where Charles Malcolm of Long Beach, deputy grand commander of the state of California, and Audrey Parks, inspector of Department No. 8, and their staff, will be honored guests.

There will be a 6:30 o'clock banquet and later the Knights will adjourn to the lodge room, where Dr. Roy V. Hogue, commander of Glendale Commandery, and the other officers and Knights will prsent the organization work before the inspecting officers.

Church to Celebrate Return of Dr. Rasmus

Honors will be accorded Dr. Henry I. Rasmus and his son, Rev. H. I. Rasmus, Jr., tonight at the First Methodist church, where church members and friends will gather to celebrate the recent turn of Dr. Rasmus and his son to another year in the Glendale pulpit.

The reception was originally planned for October 19, but Dr. Rasmus' illness necessitated the postponement until tonight.

Arrangements have been made by the Men's Brotherhood of the church with C. D. Lusby in charge of the program. C. C. Cunningham is president of the Brotherhood.

Participating in the program will be members of the Baraca and young men's classes. There will be musical numbers by the Sunday school orchestra.

An idiot remains passive, whereas a fool changes his method.

EAGLE ROCK

CLUB COMMITTEE PLANS CLEAN-UP

Women Mobilize to Achieve Sanitary Conditions Throughout City

Eagle Rock must scrub behind the ears!

Such is the verdict of the civic committee, Women's Twentieth Century club, whose motto for the year is "A clean and sanitary city." The verdict has gone forth and there is no court of appeal.

No longer shall the back yard revel in rubbish and the vacant lot hide its face in shame. No Ma'am! Not if a whole regiment of Dutch Cleanser dames and Gold Dust twins have to be mobilized.

Despite a constant succession of these clean-up drives, this community is as yet among the army of the great unwashed. "The men were behind the former drives," says Mrs. A. G. Reilly, president of the club. "Just how far behind it may be judged by the results! But now the women are back of the spic-and-span movement and—well, you know women have the reputation for being good house-cleaners."

November 10 is the date set for trash to be set out for collection. Yards that are not furbished up by then had best look out, or they will get their owners in bad.

The following statement has been issued by the civic section: "It shall be the duty of every owner or agent to remove from his lots all grass, weeds, dead trees, rubbish and waste material, if the owner or agent fails in this it shall be the duty of the Bureau of Fire Prevention to furnish the Board of Public Works with a description of the lots.

"This work can be accomplished by the entire community enlisting the aid of Boy Scouts and other school students. Let's have pride enough to be the cleanest section of Los Angeles."

Social Notes

The first of the series of fall and winter dances held by the Women's Lwentieth Century club at the clubhouse Saturday night proved a big success, reports Mrs. Grace Sherwood, chairman of the hospitality committee. Hostesses were Mrs. Edward Thompson, Mrs. E. M. Daniels and Mrs. Frederick Beach.

The second annual bazaar of the Eastern Star sewing circle will be held November 17, in the afternoon and again at night, in the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse, with a 6 o'clock dinner and dancing in the evening. Great plans are being made by the Stars for the occasion.

Tomorrow night, October 30, the local Masons and Eastern Stars will hold a dance at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse, with a live orchestra that teaches dancing without lessons.

The American Legion entertained the Auxiliary at Eagle Rock park Thursday afternoon and night, October 25, with a "Good Time" party.

Stunt Program at Oxy

The sophomore class of Occidental presented the annual soph stunt program in the college chapel last Friday evening before a packed house. The most humorous entertainment of the year was given by the four classes, each class presenting a comical one-act farce, which kept the audience in constant laughter.

During the intermission the various class booths, located on the upper quad, sold eatables and noise-makers. Each booth had for sale different things in Hallowen style. The decorations were of orange and black, with witches, black cats, ghosts, and pumpkins ornamenting the place. The night of the twenty-sixth was chosen because the class of 1926 was sponsoring the entertainment.

The large prize banner for the most original, well acted, best organized skit went to the senior class. After much delay, the judges awarded first honors to the graduating class and second honors to the juniors.

The senior stunt was a thrilling one-act play called "Souvenir Spoon." The actors included Virna Ruth, Florence Stevens, Herbert Hamilton and Irving Haynes. They had superior dramatic talent which carried the house. The juniors' stunt was entitled "Before the Play Began." Peg Crawford as the leading lady and Maynard Munger as the leading man had a most difficult time rehearsing their parts to be sure they were O. K. before the play began.

The Freshmen stunts portrayed the dream of a frosh who believed that college was all fun and no work. The sophomores' stunt was called "The Masqueraders."

Dr. Baxter Leaves to Visit Ailing Mother

Dr. Donald E. Baxter of 910 North Brand boulevard left Saturday night for an extended trip east. He will go by way of San Francisco and Portland, and will stop in Minneapolis, Chicago, Cleveland and New York.

In Warren, Ohio, Dr. Baxter will visit with his mother, who is very ill. It is probable that he will return to California late in November.

Student Policeman Shoots Class Mate

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 29.—One University of Illinois student is dead today from a shot fired by a classmate, and another is held for questioning in connection with an alleged theft out of which the slaying developed.

Phil Charp, 22, freshman at the university, fell with a bullet wound from which he died when he refused to halt at the command of J. D. Hillyer, motorcycle policeman, also a freshman.

With Sharp just before his death was Alexander Schulz, a son of Professor W. T. Schulz of the department of physics at the university.

Police stated today that the boys had bought an old automobile, in which they planned to drive today to the Northwestern-Illinois football game at Chicago. They had overhauled the machine.

Police Investigate Minor Burglaries

Several minor burglaries and cases of malicious mischief were reported this morning to the police department as having occurred during the week-end. All cases are now under investigation.

Mrs. E. Hinkle, 346 Riverdale Drive, reported that her home had been entered between 7:30 and 8:00 p. m. Sunday and $12 in cash and several minor articles taken.

Parties entered the Broadway school some time Saturday, but were only bent on mischief, as nothing of value apparently was taken.

Thieves entered the oil station at 725 South Central avenue during Sunday night. The value of their haul was not large.

Will Name Directors of Associate C. of C.

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce directors, at their meeting tomorrow night, will select three members of the organization to sit as members of the board of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley. There are thirteen organizations in the association, each of them being entitled to three directors.

The next meeting of the associated chambers will be held in Glendale on Tuesday, November 27, at the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Locked Ford Coupe Is Probed by Police

The police are investigating the reason for the presence of a Ford coupe, license No. 619-274, which was reported this morning by Officer Young as standing near the bridge on Doran street near San Fernando road.

The doors of the car were locked and the name of the registration certificate could not be distinguished. Efforts are being made to locate the owner.

MONTROSE

MERGER REPORTS TO BE SUBMITTED

Consolidation of Montrose and La Crescenta Will Be Topic at Meet

Consolidation of Montrose and La Crescenta and incorporation as one municipality, as advocated by the Montrose Chamber of Commerce, will be taken up with the La Crescenta Improvement association at a meeting in the La Crescenta school auditorium next Thursday, November 1, when a committee from the Montrose Chamber of Commerce will present the result of a canvass of the communities on the question. This committee will ask the co-operation of the Improvement association in uniting the two communities in one incorporated city.

T. O. Potts, A. E. Sullivan, William J. Hickey, A. C. Coats, Theodore Belanger, F. C. Haune and Mr. Skinner were appointed a committee at a special meeting of the board of directors of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce to canvass the residents of the two communities for the purpose of getting the sentiment on the incorporation question.

Hold Conferences

This committee has delegated Messrs. Potts, Sullivan and Belanger to take the matter up with the La Crescenta organization. It was decided that this was the only practicable way of arriving a tany definite conclusions on which to base plans for action.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Auretha Garton, daughter of John Pickering, New York City, vice-president of the Remington Typewriter company, has on file here today a petition for an annulment of her marriage to John G. Garton, her second husband.

Mrs. Garton in filing the suit revealed a war-time romance in which she married a soldier at the age of sixteen, against parental objections. He went to war and she came west, later marrying Garton without a divorce from her first husband, whose name was not revealed.

She has been playing in the movies recently as leading lady for Bert Lyttel and recently came here from a six-months' trip to Europe. Considerable secrecy surrounded the filing of her complaint nearly a month ago, and it was not until today that the records were revealed.

SALESMANSHIP CLUB MANAGER GRILLED BY BRIGHT GIRL!

'ELIJAH' CHOSEN AS MUSIC CLUB'S FIRST ORATORIO

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones Tells of Great Choral Spectacle Now Being Rehearsed

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

Development of talents of Glendale's promising junior musicians is one of the big aims of the Glendale Music club, and this purpose is glimpsed in the organization and activity of the oratorio section of the club, for the presentation of Mendelssohn's great oratorio, "Elijah," probably in the month of May during "National Music Week," will be the annual club benefit for the scholarship loan fund. This insight into music club plans for the year was given this morning by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, club president.

In addition to working toward this end, the oratorio section is one of unusual value to the club members, be they professional or amateur singers. Every club member is eligible to participate in this section, which is under the expert direction of John Smallman, whom musicians concede is one of the most capable oratorio directors in the United States.

Professional Talent

The group of singers attending the weekly meetings every Tuesday night of the oratorio section at the Glendale Union High school represents much professional talent, as well as various civic, religious and social groups of the city. Included in the group are several Glendale business men and women.

Prominent singers taking part in the oratorio work are Mrs. Virginia Freeman, Mrs. John Cole, Elizabeth Mottern, Mrs. Pansy Sheldon, Mrs. Charles A. Parker, Mrs. Frank Arnold, Mayor and Mrs. Spencer Robinson, Mrs. E. W. Kinney, Signor Faggioli, Myron Carmen, Lewis Markey and Mrs. Perry Rogers.

One of Glendale's busiest business men taking an active interest in the organization is W. B. Kelly, realtor.

Tells of Choice

"Elijah" was chosen for the first production because several months are necessary to finish any oratorio, and the time was too limited to undertake a holiday composition.

In telling of "Elijah" Mrs. Jones says: "An oratorio is termed sacred opera, the story being in most cases Biblical, and the striking growth of the popularity of oratorios in America is an unmistakable sign of a steady diffusion in musical taste.

"The oratorio as a composite form of art, drawing its forms, styles, ideals and methods of execution both from church music and the opera, combines some of the most impressive qualities of both. is free from spectacular tendencies, and in a performance there is no glamor of light and

Swiss Bell Ringers Got Cue From Cows, Writes W. B. Kirk

Beauties of Switzerland are recounted by W. B. Kirk in a letter written at Interlaken, and published today in the Glendale Evening News. Mr. Kirk's description follows:

W. B. KIRK

"I should tell you that Nancy is very much worth while in itself outside of the fact that M. Coue resides there. A drive around town between showers revealed some fine buildings, both public and private, picturesque open spaces, wide arch-ways leading into unexpectedly pretty parks, all forming such a city as we agreed was unusually fine to visit.

"A grim reminder of the war appeared in the railroad yards, where we saw many car loads and large piles of barb wire in immense rolls. They seem to use none of this commodity for fencing in this country so I presume it is to be refurnaced and made into other useful things. They use a great deal of iron in grille work, iron fencing and such like.

"Strassburg, the capital of Alsace, is a well known old city on the Rhine. Like Brussels and many other cities you can't form any idea of it from the station, near which most of the hotels are, but a drive through it showed it to be a fine city, beautiful I should say as a whole.

"Many of the down-town streets are very narrow, and we were shown some old alleys in a section where Napoleon made his headquarters, in which the buildings are rotting and evidence of decay abounds. Getting out into the newer and better sections, beauty meets the eye at every turn.

"The finest of these is the Place de la Republique, a large open space in circular form with magnificent trees and flower beds in the center, faced by one of the former kaiser's palaces, a beautiful building, by 'university' buildings and others of harmonious proportions.

Decapitate Statues

"Alsace and Lorraine having belonged to Germany for fifty years had undoubtedly become very thoroughly Germanized, as is evidenced by the fact that German is so well known and is spoken by nearly everybody. The French, naturally and rightfully, are doing all they can to counteract this. They have decapitated statues of William I and William II on one building, of 'Germania' on another, and so on.

"The signs on all the business houses are now in French, although some of the older of these show that they had already been in French long before the armistice.

Rides Out to Rhine

"Strassburg is a city of about 165,000 inhabitants, but its appearance would indicate that it is two or three times as large. I took a tramcar ride out to the Rhine in the afternoon, passing some large lumber yards, which are very scarce in the countries we have been in, also some large coal yards where coal from the Ruhr probably accumulates. There are two fine bridges across the Rhine to Kehl, Germany, one for trains and wagons.

"The river, a good-sized stream even here, flows quietly and peacefully along, unmindful of the hatred in the hearts of the natives, which it separates.

Visits Cathedral

"'The Cathedral,' of course, is the greatest object of curiosity in Strassburg. With its immense windows and celebrated astronomical clock it is seen by all visitors, so that when we got there for the noon exhibition scores of people were already there. The passing of the figures representing the apostles and the image of the Christ and the crowing of the cock thrice came off on scheduled time, and then we were shown through the old building.

"Our final jump into Switzerland was made that Saturday evening, going to Basel via Mulhausen. Before the darkness set in we could see 'the Blue Alsatian Mountains,' and they really are blue. A couple of very sharp pointed castles were prominent, one called Hoh Koenigsbourg.

Rain in Switzerland

"Sunday in Basel was a day of continuous downpour, about as gloomy a day as can well be imagined. So we spent it in rest and quiet, not stirring from the hotel, and saw nothing of the town, although it is a large, important business center. We will return through there and expect to see more of it at that time. It seems to have three names, Basle and Bale, both pronounced Boll, and Basel (German) pronounced as it is spelled.

"Monday was as beautiful as Sunday was miserable and brought joy to our hearts. We were astir early, for us, and I hurriedly arranged a 'circular

CONSUL AT KOBE WRITES OF QUAKE

Mrs. A. L. Ferguson Receives Letter From Her Brother Erle R. Dickover

Relief work of the American consulate in Kobe, Japan, is related in a letter received by Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, of 525 North Jackson street from her brother, Erle R. Dickover, American Consul at Kobe. It was written September 28 and is the first letter Mrs. Ferguson and her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Dickover, of Santa Barbara, have had from Mr. Dickover.

He writes in part, "I received your letter of September 4 asking me to write and tell you all about everything, but really, I can't do it, I'm too tired. It's actual agony for me to sit here now and fight to keep my eyes open so that I can write you a few lines.

"Perfect Madhouse"

"The consulate has been a perfect madhouse ever since the 4th, when th refugees first started to arrive in Kobe. I have spent about 30,000 yen ($15,000) since the earthquake for telegrams. I had to report every American who escaped out of the devastated district and every one who was killed or missing.

"I was one of the organizers of the international relief committee and besides administered a Red Cross relief fund for Americans and a Jewish relief fund. I had a bunch of American destroyers at my disposal and got a relief expedition from Shanghai to help us out.

Cared for 3000

"We have cared for more than 3000 foreign refugees in Kobe, and Kobe is a town with ordinary accommodations for only about 1000 foreigners. We fed, clothed and housed them and not one as far as I know has ever had to miss a meal or sleep in the open.

"They came to Kobe without anything except the clothes which they were wearing at the time of the quake and those were usually torn to shreds or half burned off.

"It did not make any difference how wealthy a person might be, they were all reduced to the same level, without food, clothing or shelter. We did not even know they were coming until they arrived as communications were all cut off. Lots of them were injured. We had three emergency hospitals in addition to the usual hospital and took care of all the cases. Only two, I think, died on our hands.

Several Friends Killed

"Several of my friends were killed in Yokohama, the American consul Kirjanoff and his wife. Mrs. Kirjanoff was trapped in the collapse of the consulate while he got out. He and others worked like mad to get her out, but the fire, driving in great, roaring sheets of flame overhead, finally drove all but Kirjanoff away. He stayed on and somehow, probably by the burning away of part of the ruins, got his wife out, but

'MODERN WOMAN' SPEAKER'S TOPIC

Dr. Jasper J. Mayer Billed by Tuesday Afternoon Club Tomorrow

"Psychological Tendencies of the Modern Woman" is to be discussed tomorrow afternoon at the meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club by Dr. Jasper J. Mayer of the University of Psychical Research of Los Angeles.

Dr. Mayer, who has seen service with the Czecho-Slovakian army and on the relief commission to Siberia, is a thorough student of psychology, and Tuesday Afternoon club women are anticipating his lecture.

A feature of the club meeting will be a group of vocal numbers by Henry Cantor, Glendale tenor.

This meeting of the club, occuring as it does on the fifth Tuesday of the month, will only have the lecture and song group, the food sale, community sing or club luncheon being omitted.

The meeting will begin at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Daniel Campbell in charge.

Reformation Day Is Observed by Church

Yesterday was observed by the members of the congregation of the First Lutheran Church as "Reformation Day."

In presenting the subject, "The Key to the Scriptures, or The Way Made Plain," Dr. H. C. Punk said in part:

"Our holy religion is not based upon a complicated network of philosophical and scientific propaganda. Indeed, it is neither a science nor a philosophy. It is a heavenly food—a living water. So wonderful is its clearness, so charming its simplicity, that a child may understand and lay hold of it. And yet so sublime is the teaching of this heavenly wisdom that wise men may fail to comprehend it.

"The prophet Isaiah declared: 'The wayfaring men, though fools, shall not err therein.' The key is found in the scriptures, and there only. That's where Dr. Luther found it. Christ is the Key to the Scriptures, for he said: 'I Am the Way.' There is none other name under Heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved."

Millikan Remains in Broadway Methodist

Of interest to the church people of Glendale will be the announcement that Rev. L. J. Millikan, pstor of Broadway Methodist church, south, has been returned to the local work for another year by the Pacific conference which adjourned this morning. Rev. Millikan will be enthusiastically received by his congregation, who have hoped for his return.

California Holds Many Varieties of Native Wild Birds

Men and their deeds pass away, but nature seems immortal. The garden of the world is today as yesterday. Counting by human centuries we shall never know its decline. The light of the sun shall not be extinguished, and under it always the glow of the earth, the flame on the mountain-peak, the foam on the tossing wave. The blue sky, though it change its light from hour to hour, shall not diminish. The clouds will form, the rain will drop and seasons will change; but forever and ever the arrowy pine on the mountain, the golden poppy of the hills, and the birds of the air will enchant Nature's vast domain.

As I explore the regions of the haunts of our wild birds and study their peculiarities and complexities, I find myself enwrapped in the majesty of creation.

Large Variety Here

California is particularly fortunate in its number and variety of birds. This great state has more species recorded as occurring within her confines than any other state in the union. We have 576 species. Over half the total number of varieties recorded as occurring within the border of the "Golden State" are found in Southern California. We have several species found nowhere else in the union. They have become permanent residents.

In the great sweep of country from Mexico on the south to Oregon on the north are to be found climatic conditions ranging from the tropics to the arctic. Our valleys blossom with roses and our mountains are crowned with perpetual snow. It is the paradise of the bird-lover as well as the tourist. The flora and fauna of California are as unique as the climate.

Colors Present Study

Many birds add a touch of brightness to the generally subdued or sombre colors of nature. The colors of the great majority of our birds are subdued and inconspicuous. Probably no other animals have such excellent protective coloration. The color scheme study is a science in itself. Bright colors are dangerous to a bird. Bright colors and song seem to replace each other in the bird-life of the temperate zone. Birds need our protection. All birds have their part to play in the great economy of nature and it is a dangerous experiment to off-set the balance of nature.

In this article, I wish to present a list of some of our wild, weird birds. To know these birds one must go out into the wilds of the state and live for hours each day with them. One must exercise great patience and subject themselves to difficulties and hard-living. These birds are rarely seen by the casual observer. To know birds you must have a seeing eye, a listening ear and an understanding heart. A knowledge of the habits of the species in question will be of aid in proceeding to accomplish the task that one has set out to do.

Near Mt. El Capitan, San Diego County, in the oak tree area near the river bottom, are flocks of crows. They nest in the tall trees and frequently visit the farms near by. The crow is a bird of ill-omen. They are acute in the sense of understanding. They seem to scent danger. They exhibit unique skill in evading the naturalist. They seem to disregard the scare-crow, but the sight of a man will flush the flock to the opposite shore. They utter their characteristic cry, "caw-caw-caw" from early dawn until the last rays of sun filters through the oaks. The crow is a monarch in the air and sure of himself in any kind of weather. Both male and female share incubating the eggs and caring for the progeny. The blind and naked black-skinned nestlings seem to recognize the call-notes of the adults from the clouds. They are awkward and uncanny in disposition as they crowd each other in the huge nest placed high up in the tall trees. Usually four or five eggs are deposited and the young remain in the nest for about five or six weeks. They join a flock of youngsters during migration. There are crows in every state in the union. A crow in captivity is a unhappy bird.

Nesting Ravens

There is a pair of nesting ravens on South Island, "Dead Man's Island," one of Los Coronados Archipelago off the coast of Mexico in the Pacific Ocean. The writer made a 'flying' trip down to this locality in 1922. The raven is the largest representative of the crow family. They are very shy birds and prefer solitary confinement among jagged cliffs far away from the habitations of man. Poe's unique poem, "Quoth the Raven, never more," is a classic. They are birds of mystery, uttering hoarse croaking echoes from the walls and cliffs. The higher and more inaccessible the cliff and the more barren and deserted the valley below the better suited are the ravens and the more freely do they soar and croak, flying singly or in pairs, up and down the face of the cliff with a spirited wildness. They are suspicious, wary pirates of the open air.

GLENDALE ENTRY INQUISITIVE ON CAMPAIGN RULES

Then She Gets Busy Selling Glendale Evening News Subscriptions

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager

Did you ever have a bunch of questions fired at you with such rapidity that you hardly knew where you were at?

That's what happened to the Salesmanager of The Glendale Evening News' $10,500 salesmanship campaign Saturday morning when a Glendale young girl came to this office seeking information regarding the campaign and the prizes.

She wanted to "find" out all about it, and if medals were ever given to question propounders, this young lady surely deserves one.

It was early in the forenoon and she came to the point right away.

"Well, count me in on that race and tell me all about it."

"Yes, indeed," replied the salesmanager, "you see——"

"Can I win that $2250 building lot in Sparr Heights, or the $1500 lot in Oakmont Heights or the Nash touring car or the Maxwell touring car?" she interrupted.

"You most certainly can! That is, providing you secure the highest number of credits."

"And does it make any difference where I live?"

"No difference whatever as long as you live in Glendale or any one of the surrounding towns described in the districts."

"Well then tell me what I must do to win?" she asked, as she moved her chair forward.

"That's easy. All you have to do is to see your friends and acquaintances and get them to prepay their subscriptions to the Glendale Evening News through you. That's all there is to it."

"If they are not already taking The Glendale Evening News the idea is to induce them to subscribe for three, six or twelve months."

"But how about the credits; it takes credits to win doesn't it?" she fired back.

"Exactly, I'm coming to that. Credits are allowed for each prepaid subscription to The Glendale Evening News."

"How many credits do you get for subscriptions?" she inquired eagerly.

"That depends entirely upon the length of time the subscriptions are paid for, from three months up to five years, and during which period same is received at the campaign department, according to the printed schedule."

By this time other interested campaigners had come in and were listening. The young lady drew a deep breath and resumed.

Diet and Health

Menu Planning, No. 1

We have had lessons in the feeding of children up to 2½ years. Now we will take up menu planning for the children after that age.

You know from what I have given you that for all children of all ages we must supply complete proteins (those that have all the building elements), and mineral salts and vitamins to cover the growth and repair needs.

You know that we must supply sufficient energy foods to cover the needs of the internal and external energy of these frisking young human animals.

You know that the foods given them must be balanced to give the correct proportion of proteins, carbohydrates and fats; and that they must be of such a nature that the alkali mineral elements exceed the acid so as to maintain the normal slightly alkaline reaction of the blood and tissue fluids.

It sounds like a formidable task, doesn't it? It's not so formidable, mothers — in fact, it's not formidable at all. I will show you how simple it is. I will give you a foundation upon which you can build menus that can be guaranteed to build children. Here it is:

Best Foundation For Each Day For Each Child

(Also Best For Each Adult)

Part 1. — Protective Foods: 1½ pints of milk (at least), 1 full cup of vegetables (especially the green leaf vegetables), part of them raw, 1 cup of fruit, part fresh if possible.

Part II.—Energy Foods: Cereals, including whole grain breads. Fats in the form of butter or cream; egg yolks, and nuts.

You will give your child other foods besides these I have listed. But if he has Part I, as the minimum basis of every day's diet we can be pretty sure that the complete protein, mineral elements and the vitamins will largely be taken care of, and—especially if the energy foods are properly chosen—that there will be a preponderance of alkalinizing foods in the diet.

IMPORTANT!

Readers of this column are very many and very interested. They write many inqueries, which Dr. Peters is eager to have and very glad to answer when possible. But more and more they neglect to self-address enevelopes for her reply.

Now, owing to the great number of inqueries received, we are sorry that it is no longer possible to make reply unless the simple rules of the column are observed. Hereafter if you expect a reply you must enclose a stamped envelope fully addressed to yourself, with your inquery. Otherwise your letter will have to be destroyed and the postage (if sent) will be given to charity.—The Editor.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Beauty Chats

HOT AND COLD TREATMENTS

Many obstinate cases of falling hair can be cured by hot and cold treatments. The combination of heat and cold on the scalp is very stimulating, and is sometimes the only thing necessary to stir the sluggish circulation of the blood into healthful activity.

As these hot and cold treatments are always done with water they can only really be given at the time of the shampoo. The hair should always be wet first with hot water, then the liquid soap or shampoo lotion lathered on, rinsed off with hot water, fresh soap lathered on with more hot water, and rinsed again in water of equal temperature or a higher one.

If you must shampoo your head in a basin give it at least four rinsings, beginning hot and gradually cooling. If you are fortunate enough to have running water, cool it as you rinse, but in either case end by running water as cold as you can stand it over the scalp. This closes the pores and its slight shock is very beneficial. It is a necessary ending to a shampoo if you have any tendency toward catching cold.

To a certain extent it is good for the scalp to be exposed to changes of temperature. To go with the hair hanking or loosely dressed in the summer's heat will induce a fresh supply of oil and will make the hair glossy. To go out in the winter with the head uncovered makes the scalp strong and healthy. But before you try this kind of treatment be sure the exposure will not give you a cold in the head. It will not if you gradually harden yourself by going bareheaded whenever possible.

There are certain astringent cleansing lotions which are very stimulating to the scalp, which, because they contain alcohol or ether, feel ice cold when they are applied. These make the scalp less sensitive, so there is not so much danger of catching cold when the weather turns.

G. McC. C.; Elsie K.; O. E. S.; A. K.; Alice J.:—I will be glad to mail the information about reducing, also formulas for the creams and for blackhead treatment, on receipt of a stamped self-addressed envelope. Lack of space prohibits printing at this time.

equal parts of pitch and of myrrh will bleach them off. Any oil will remove the salve later, if you cannot wash it off entirely.

Tomorrow:—Answered Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Here are some jolly games for a Hallowe'en Party:

Foolish Fortunes: Have a paper "cauldron" suspended from a chandelier with a cardboard witch standing near. Each guest steps up to the cauldron and draws from it a folded slip of paper bearing a fortune such as the following (which you can make up yourself). 1, You have the knack of brightening things up immensely—especially silverware. 2, There is a sudden trip in store for you—possibly down the cellar stairs. 3, Good luck will follow you all your life—but will never overtake you. 4, You will shine in the world—if you use enough soap. 5, The future holds greater things for you—in any hardware store. 6, Checks innumerable are coming your way—on your neckties, suits and vests.

Hallowe'en Memory Contest: For five minutes all the guests are allowed to look at a table on which are spread numerous articles pertaining to Hallowe'en, then the table-top is covered with a cloth and each guest is given a paper and pencil so that he may write down all the articles he can remember, three minutes being allowed for this writing. A prize is awarded the contestant whose list is the longest. (The table articles may be a pumpkin, sheaf of corn, cat, witch, nuts, apple-parings, a mirror, a paper hat, Autumn leaves, a cobweb, broomstick, etc.)

Horror Game: Everybody sits on the floor around a sheet, each player holding the edge of the sheet with his left hand (quite near the floor). With the right hand, the players pass around objects of horror, under the sheet, guessing what they are merely by the sense of touch as they cannot see them. The hostess has previously prepared such things as the following, for this purpose: a hot potato, a piece of ice, a piece of fur sewed into a ball and stuffed to represent a mouse, a shelled, hard-boiled egg, a potato stuck full of toothpicks, etc. None may say aloud what he believes the object to be. The fun of this game lies in its noisiness.

Story Contest: Gathered in a darkened room, each guest in turn tells an original, extemporaneous ghost story. A judge decided which was the best when all have finished, and a small copy of a Shakespearean play is given as a prize to the winner with a card reading: "A book by one of your brother authors."

Dramatic Contest: Each guest must draw from a witch's hat a slip of paper. On each slip is written a Hallowe'en emotion—such as "Mystery," "Fear," "Stealth," "Vengeance," "Romance," etcetera. In turn each must act out the emotion written on his slip, while the rest guess what he is trying to portray.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

I THANK YOU: I find my correspondence too heavy to handle the matter of entertaining. Since you are to have a Hallowe'en party you certainly have great opportunity to decorate attractively wtih corn husks, jack o' lanterns, pumpkins and crepe paper. Set your tables wherever you can accommodate your guests. Since you have no dining room, it would be all right to carry out the plan you outlined. A lap lunch would also be all right, but if you prefer to set the tables, by all means do so and do not consider your accommodations.

With each invitation request the guest to come in costume.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a man of twenty-seven and I have been engaged to a girl of nineteen for about one year. I met this girl one day while she was shopping and became acquainted with her. She invited me out to take dinner in her home and I met her parents. After this our interest in each other began to grow. She told me she loved me and was happy in my company. Then about four months ago what I thought was real love proved to be different.

This summer she planned to take advantage of an excursion to a summer resort near her home and asked me to go along. Like a gentleman I did so. We spent our time among her former friends. It was my greatest delight to be with her and meet her acquaintances. After we returned home I continued to keep my engagements and then I could feel that her love for me was untrue.

She had planned to see a young man of her age while she was on the trip with me. Since then she has treated me so coldly and as if she wished to withdraw from my company. I was forced to question her mother and her truthful mother plainly told me that she has been corresponding with this gentleman who lives in another town and that she no longer loves me. She said that the girl had loved this man before and the man hadn't cared enough for her to come to see her. I was unaware of the plans she had made to see him that day. She also told me that I was too good to her daughter.

Please tell me what to do in this matter. The girl has lost her love for me and my best efforts do not satisfy her any longer. Now that I have heard she no longer cares for me but hadn't the heart to tell me because of my kindness to her, I am persuaded to drop our engagement and let her investigate the difference between a real love and a flashy love. RED WING.

You have come to a wise decision. Of course it is useless to try to keep the girl when she no longer cares for you, and the only thing for you to do is to give her her freedom. So often kindness and loyalty are not appreciated until they are taken away.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls, sixteen years of age. We are both very much in love with two young men who are not considered in our class. Our parents have money. They do not allow them to call at our homes. Would it be proper to meet them elsewhere?

CHUMS.

It would not be proper to meet the boys elsewhere. Since you are only sixteen, the wise thing for you to do is to obey your parents and give up the friendship of the boys. When you are older it will be a different matter, and if you feel your parents are unjust or snobbish in their attitude toward your friends, you will be free to make your own choice.

'Elijah' Chosen First Oratorio

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones Tells of Great Choral Spectacle Now Being Rehearsed

color. The eye is at rest. Only the ear and imagination are awake.

Intensely Dramatic

"'Elijah,' the work now being studied, remains today probably the most dramatic oratorio ever written. The musical character of Elijah is cleverly drawn, 'a man, strong and zealous, full of bitterness and scorn, the antagonist of the rabble, whether of courtiers or populace, wellnigh the antagonist of the world, yet borne aloft on the wings of angels.'

"Some of the incidents from the life of the great prophet are: King Ahab, ruler of the northern kingdom of Israel, wed to Jezebel, who espoused Baal worship in the land. The three-year drought began and the opening chorus is the cry of 'Help, Lord.'

"After three years Elijah appears and announces the close of the drought and summons the 450 prophets of Baal to build an altar and place a sacrifice to their god Baal. An altar is also erected to Elijah's god Jehova and Elijah announces that the true God will send down fire from heaven and consume his sacrifice.

Many Chorus Numbers

"When Elijah calls on the Lord the fire descends. Finally Elijah prays for rain and there follows the beautiful 'Thanks Be to God' and chorus.

"Then there is the cry of the people, 'Lord, Bow Down Thine Ear,' and also the duet, 'Zion Spreadeth Her Hands'; the tenor aria, "If With All Your Hearts," the double quartet of angels, 'For He Shall Give His Angels Charge Over Thee'; the double chorus, 'Baal, We Cry to Thee'; Elijah's aria, 'O Lord God of Abraham'; the angelic quartet, 'Cast Thy Burdens On the Lord,' and "O Rest In the Lord.'

"The masterpiece concludes with the beautiful quartet, 'Come, Every One That Thirsteth,' and the majestic chorus, 'And Then Shall Your Light.'

Dreams Come True

"For two years officers and members of the Glendale Music club have anticipated the organization of an oratorio unit, and now that our dream has come true we are offering Glendalians an opportunity to participate in an organization of which the city of Glendale may well be proud.

"Becoming a member of the Glendale Music club not only means admittance to the fine programs given throughout the year, but offers one the opportunity of receiving real professional training, for it has been truthfully said that one rehearsal under Mr. Smallman is of as much value as a private lesson. This is one of the most liberal offers ever presented to a community, and the citizens of Glendale have not been slow in recognizing the fact.

"Any citizen of Glendale who loves to sing and can read music is eligible to join the oratorio section, by joining the music club. Application can be made with any of the club officers or with Mrs. Charles A. Parker and Miss Myrtle Pulliam, chairman and secretary of the section. Rehearsals are held at 7:30 o'clock every Tuesday night at the Glendale Union High school."

Joker Nullifies Motor Vehicle Law, Is Claim

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—A joker in the new state motor vehicle law lifts speed limit restrictions and motorists may drive pleasure cars at any speed they desire and defy prosecution. Such was the contention of a communication sent the city council by Captain McDowell, of the police traffic squad. It was asserted there are no speed limits and that a person can drive his car at any speed, even in a city, and escape prosecution, unless he becomes involved in an accident.

Captain McDowell's letter was based upon a conference between McDowell, City Prosecutor Friedlander and Police Judge Chambers, who, it is declared, interpreted the new law as meaning that a pleasure car can be driven anywhere in the state of California at any speed desired.

"How many prizes will be given?"

"Sixteen big prizes. The club member securing the most credits will be awarded the lot in Sparr Heights and the second highest the lot in Oakmont Heights, while the third will receive the Nash touring car and the fourth the Maxwell touring car, in addition to the capital prizes there will be twelve district prizes, six for each district."

"Oh, I see," as her face lighted up; "then if I live out of town I have an equal opportunity with the others to win the grand capital prizes."

"Exactly."

"But suppose I work and don't win any of the prizes, then what? Have all my efforts been for nothing?"

"Absolutely not! If you remain active throughout the campaign and make a regular cash report twice a week and do not win one of the prizes you will receive 25 per cent of the cash on new subscriptions that you bring in and 15 per cent of the cash that you turn in on old subscriptions."

"Then I can't lose. I'm sure to receive something for my work. Well, that's fair enough." Then the young lady smiled.

"I guess you think I am asking a lot of questions, but I want to understand everything."

"That's right, just go ahead."

"May I take subscriptions anywhere I can get them?"

"Why, certainly, you are not restricted in any sense in securing subscriptions. You may take them in Glendale, Eagle Rock, Burbank, or any place in the United States."

"Well," she said, "guess I'll start now. Give me a couple of those receipt books. Goodbye."

Half an hour later the telephone rang. "Aha," came a familiar voice. "I told you I would get started right away and I have two subscriptions and am out after more."

Chief Benefits from Reformation Outlined

Some of the chief blessings derived from the Reformation were pointed out yesterday by the Rev. Henry O. Kringle, pastor of the Zion Lutheran Congregation, where Reformation Sunday was fittingly observed.

"The chief blessings of the Reformation of the Church consisted, according to some," said Rev. Kringle, "in this, that Luther disseminated those ideas of independence, equality and liberty which have ultimately given birth to our glorious republic. According to others in this, that Luther laid the foundation of the broad and liberal education enlightening our century.

"And no doubt these are great blessings, but if we insist upon having the chief blessing pointed out to us, that can be shown with absolute authority only by that Book, the Bible, upon which the Reformation was founded, more especially by that passage: 'The Just Shall Live by Faith.'"

TODAY—To photograph Hawaii's active volcano. "Reefs" in Hawaiian waters prove purely legendary. Fire losses light in the islands.

By JOHN F. STONE
For International News Service

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Oct. 29.—Hawaii's active volcano, Kilauea, is soon to be photographed from the air and a study of its gas and heat from a point directly over the pit made, under orders just received from the War Department. Work will be started immediately on a landing field and airdome to be located in the Hawaii National Park, somewhere near the active volcano, at an elevation of 4,000 feet. This will be a base for the army flyers while engaged in the photographic work which is to include besides the volcano other interesting portions of the Big Island.

Numerous "islands" or reefs that have been pictured on charts of the Pacific Ocean for decades and which were said to be located between Hawaii and Wake and Johnson islands do not exist, according to reports from the naval minesweepers Whippoorwill and Tanager, of Pearl Harbor naval station, which have been on duty westward from Hawaii for several weeks scouring the ocean in search of a number of reefs supposed to exist in certain localities there. Two reefs for which special and unavailing search was made were the Krusenstern and Shipman reefs, which have been given credit on the maps for many years.

Fire insurance losses in Honolulu during the last 10 years have amounted to only 10.32 per cent of the premiums collected by insurance companies and fire losses throughout the territory have been very light as compared with the majority of mainland communities, according to a report compiled by a committee of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce. The report declares that danger of a widespread conflagration in Honolulu is very remote, owing to the large open spaces of the city and the fact that homes in most instances are not built close together. The absence of the necessity for heating houses and larger buildings also lessens the fire hazard appreciably.

There are no snakes in Hawaii. This is one of the favorite advertising lines of the Hawaii Tourist Bureau and a fact in which the local populace takes much pride and comfort. Hence the discovery of a live snake in the heart of Honolulu the other day caused quite a stir of excitement, even though this one was only 14 inchesIon g and was apparently not poisonous. Local quarantine officials have decided that the snake reached Honolulu from the coast, probably coming in dry grass packed around a shipment of honey dew melons which had been delivered a few days before near where it was discovered.

Mrs. Rose Sayers, teacher of the second grade class at Central Grammar School, Honolulu, put this question to her youngsters the other day:

"Who can tell me his father's last name?"

A wide-awake little Japanese boy, neatly dressed, put up a spotlessly clean hand and replied: "My father's last name is Consul General."

It was Dan Naito Yamasaki, son of the Japanese Consul-General, Keiichi Yamasaki. Dan had seen the words "Consul General" written so many times after his father's name that there was no doubt in his mind as to the correctness of his answer.

KIRK WRITES OF ALPINE BEAUTIES

Slow Train Through Switzerland Boon to Sightseer, Says Glendale Man

trip' through 'Suisse,' and had barely time to complete the tickets and catch the 9:40 train for Geneva. One reason was the extreme difficulty I had in getting hold of a man who could understand any English at all.

Slow Train Pleasing

"This train proved to be exactly what we wanted, a local, with slow time. From the moment we got out of town we began to be thrilled by the lovely scenery, and all day long it was continuous joy to view it. Say, friends, when people in America or anywhere pay compliment to Switzerland in speaking of something which is as fine as, or finer than anything in Switzerland or the Alps, they are setting a high standard of values, I assure you.

"We are charmed with the country. There is something so peaceful and quiet about it, it is so well kept, the cities and towns and country life seem to harmonize so perfectly with their setting that it gives one that restful feeling which is not easy to find.

Beauty Is Natural

"Of course, it is natural to compare the features of the different countries as well as their peoples, so we were comparing the character of the scenery as we went along, with that of Norway, for instance, but the old saying that 'comparisons are odious' is palpably true in this case.

"Each has its peculiar charm. So far Switzerland has nothing to speak of in the way of waterfalls or in the wild, untouched natural scenery of Norway, but she has a natural beauty which has been adorned by the hand of man to an extent which is admirable.

"I find that weather has everything to do with one's impressions of a country, so the ecstasy of Monday, because it was a perfect day, might not have been great had we gone through the same scenery on Sunday. The wife was remarking that Bob Burdette paid a visit to Switzerland some years ago and, during a stay of three weeks, experienced not one pretty day. So he thought Helvetia not as pretty a country as had been pictured, and if anybody could see the bright side it was Burdette. However, good man that he was, he has gone to a more beautiful land than this, where gloom never pervades.

Water of Turquoise Blue

"Today the water in the lakes was a turquoise blue close to the shore, shading into a pretty marine farther out. The gentle ripples lapped the pebbles along the beach just below us, and no description could exaggerate the picture, with the hills on the other side, beyond which rose the white, sharp peaks of the Alps in the clouds, while on our side the vineyards with staked vines and the gardens rose in terrace above terrace, each with its stone retaining wall. We had seen pictures of these, but it was our first sight of the real thing.

Cattle Are Sleek

"The railroads run along the lakes and rivers at just the height to give you the finest views. The auto roads are parallel and are perfect. We traveled the entire length of Lake Neuchatel and Lake Leman (or Lake Geneva) today. I had never seen any real Swiss cattle before. They are large, almost as large as shorthorns, and of a creamy, tan color, like the Jersey. How sleek and well fed they look! And every one of them wears a big bell, not the old, square cow bell that we know, but a round brass dinner bell, big and heavy, some of them ten or twelve inches in diameter.

Real Swiss Bell Ringers

"When the boy starts to drive a dozen or so of them in for milking the noise is ludicrous. The Swiss bell ringers must have gotten their cue from these bells; they're the same kind. We noticed a few oxen being used for farm work. They also raise some fine goats. Horses seem scarce.

"Europe produces very few hogs and in every country they are all 'Chester Whites.' Isn't it queer? It must be because they are unusually hardy. We saw a few of them today.

In Gardens and Forest

"The gardens of the people are as geometrically perfect in shape and as well cared for as they could possibly be. The Japs have nothing on them.

"The forest trees of Europe are all very fine, but those we have seen here are unusually so. And they either have no brush or weak undergrowth or it has all been uprooted. I am inclined to think the latter. The greensward of grass extends clear up under and around the trees and the entire countryside looks just like the well-kept estate of some wealthy lord. I wonder what becomes of the leaves."

In his next letter Mr. Kirk will continue his story of Switzerland.

DRAMATURGY

Opening Night—The entire company gives a wonderful performance. The play is an enormous, huge and immense success. The audience howl and cry for the author, the producer and the actors. After the performance all have a merry supper. There are so many geniuses in the crowd that it must be a happy gathering.

Second Night—The box office receipts are not so good; but the performance is wonderful from an artistic point of view.

Third Night—It being Saturday, the house is crowded and the entire "company" have a pleasant Sunday.

Fourth Night—Monday is very sad. The whole outfit weakens. There are rumors that the play will be taken on the "road."

Two Weeks Later—The theatre is closed.—Marcel Steinbrugge.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BELL

"Uncle Wiggily! Uncle Wiggily! Wake up!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the rabbit gentleman's hollow stump bungalow one morning. "Wake up and come down!" squeaked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Ho! Ho! That is rather funny!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, as he twinkled his pink nose. "Which do you want me to do first, Nurse Jane, wake UP or come DOWN?"

"Oh, I don't care what you do as long as you keep your promise," went on Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. Have you forgotten, Uncle Wiggily, that you promised to do something for me today?"

"Dear me! I had almost forgotten," cried the rabbit gentleman as he leaped out of bed, jumped into his clothes and came sliding down the stair banister railing. "What did I promise you, Nurse Jane? Was it to go and play golf? If it was that I'm ready as soon as I eat breakfast."

"No, I don't want you to play golf," laughed the muskrat lady. "I want you to go to the store and get me a new, shining tin dishpan. My old one is full of holes and leaks water all over the kitchen floor."

"Oh, a new dishpan—that's easy!" laughed the bunny uncle. "I'll hop to the store as quick as never was, get you the pan and then I'll come home and play croquet with you if you wish."

"Thank you—I don't wish!" laughed Nurse Jane. "I have the bungalow work to do. So hop along, Wiggly!"

Uncle Wiggily hopped along after eating a breakfast of boiled carrots with maple sugar sauce sprinkled on the middle, and soon he was at the thirfeen and fourteen cent store, where they sold new, shining, tin dishpans.

Uncle Wiggily bought for Nurse Jane the largest and shiniest pan he could find, and he was hopping back with the dishpan over his head like a sun-bonnet when, all of a sudden, the rabbit gentleman heard a sad little voice saying:

"Oh, dear! What shall I do? I've stepped on a stone and cut my shoe!"

"Ha! That's too bad!" cried the bunny, with a twinkle of his pink nose. "Who are you?" He looked around, afraid lest he might see the Fuzzy Fox or the Woozie Wolf, but he didn't. "Who are you?" he asked again.

"I'm a poor hoptoad lady," was the answer. "And what I told you is very true—I stepped on a stone and cut my shoe. And I can't hop—so what shall I do?"

"Do?" cried Uncle Wiggily in his jolly voice, "why, I'll tell you what to do. Hop into Nurse Jane's dishpan and I'll carry you home since you can't walk. Hop in, Mrs. Toad."

So the toad lady hopped into the dishpan and Uncle Wiggily took her home, and then he took her shoe to the cobbler, who mended the cut in it. The jolly rabbit gentleman, with the dishpan on his head like a sunbonnet kept on his way, and soon he came within sight of the hollow stump school.

But something seemed to be wrong for, out in front, the Lady Mouse Teacher was creeping up and down, flipping and flopping her tail about in the saddest way you can imagine.

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, such trouble!" squeaked the lady mouse teacher. "I can't get any of the animal children to come to school!"

"Why not?" asked the bunny gentleman, taking the dishpan off his ears so he could twinkle his pink nose easier. "Have they become tired of school, or does the chimney smoke?"

"Neither one," answered the lady mouse teacher. "But the bell is broken. It doesn't ring and if the rat janitor doesn't ring the bell to call the animal children to school, they won't come, and it will be dreadful! Oh, what shall I do?" and the poor Lady Mouse Teacher tied her tail in a hard knot she was so excited.

"I'll help you!" cried Uncle Wiggily, after thinking it over for a moment. "I'll ring the bell and call the children to school."

"But the bell is broken—it can't ring," squeaked Lady Mouse.

"I'll hang on Nurse Jane's new dishpan and make more noise than your school bell ever made," chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "The children will think there's a fire and they will come running."

So the rabbit gentleman took a stick and beat on the bottom of the dishpan, making believe it was a big dinner gong.

"Clang, Clung, Boom! Boom! Boom!" rang out the dishpan bell.

And in their homes the animal children heard the strange sound.

"The hollow stump school must be on fire!" cried Jackie Bow Wow. Let's go, Peetie!"

"Hurray! Hurrah!" barked Peetie.

The rabbit gentleman beat on the bottom of the dishpan.

Then he and the other animal boys and girls ran to school to see what made the booming sound, and when they got there the school wasn't on fire at all. But they arrived before 9 o'clock so they weren't late. And the Lady Mouse Teacher thanked Uncle Wiggily very much for making a bell of the dishpan.

Then the rabbit gentleman twinkled his pink nose again and hopped home to Nurse Jane. And if the coal man doesn't turn white when the ash can blows talcum powder on him, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the rolling pumpkin.

Scientist Tells Of State's Wild Birds

been observed among the rocks along the shore, but to come suddenly upon a pair racing over the algean rocks on the Coronado Islands was a thrill that I experienced in 1917. The head and neck are dull bluish black and the rest of the plumage brownish black. The bill and the feet are scarlet. They have three toes and race from rock to rock with perfect accuracy. They open shells and devour the contents with surprising quickness. They are wild birds and representatives of the shore-bird group, measuring 17 inches from beak to tip of tail.

California Condor

The California Condor is the largest bird that flies, except his cousin, the Condor of the Andes. The bird weighs about 40 pounds and extends nearly eight feet from wing to wing. They appear in the clouds in the early hours of the morning and retire to a crag in some mountain precipice when the sun begins to peep over the summit of the range. They are stupid birds and one may approach their retreat with no fear of any harm. They are vultures and feed upon carrion. The condor's eggs are valued at $100 and the birds are protected by law. The California Condor is on the verge of extermination. They do not seem to know how to protect themselves from foes. They are greedy and will devour their eggs in time of danger.

The Western Horned Owl is the champion nocturnal warrior of the open air. The eyesight seems to be better than that of most owls. They hunt by day as well as by night. Thousands of mice, rats and some poultry fall a victim to their bill-of-fare. Dr. Fisher found 72 rats around the nesting site of a pair of these owls in the Sierra Nevada mountains. They spread terror among the smaller species of birds. They strike to kill and appear heartless in their attack. A male horned owl will measure 18-23 inches from beak to tip of tail and extend 49 inches from wing to wing. The female is a trifle larger than the male, averaging 22 inches. I have studied this bird with great delight in the region of Crystal Lake, 25 miles north of Mt. Wilson in the North Fork range.

Grandest Game Bird

The Mountain Quail is the grandest little game bird in the world. Treat him kindly, for if he becomes exterminated, there is no other game bird like him to take his place. He loves the high and lofty mountains of California.

Last year there were 160,000 hunting licenses issued to shoot quail. California is particularly fortunate in having six species of partridge. When you come down the mountain-slopes into the valleys you are aware of the presence of the Valley Quail. They are smaller and bluer than the Mountain variety. They possess a distinct crest that turns forward. The mountain quail has two distinct prongs that extend back and outward in the form of a crest. With a booming sound, they vanish with surprising quickness.

At Utters Marsh, near Del Rey, one may hear the plaintive cry of the Killdeer plover. He is so protectively colored that you might pass him without notice. One must look quickly and you will see him race over the mud bar and vanish among the salicornia grass crying "killdee, killdee!" This little mosquito warrior is one of our most valuable bay and marsh birds in the country. Always in action and racing madly here and there in search of insect life. They make no pretense at nest-building. The female deposits her three dark-colored eggs near the edge of the marsh in the clay or among the grass and feigns a broken wing when you approach her domain. All day long you can hear that anxious cry. I have heard the Killdeer in my dreams.

There are other species that I might enumerate, but space does not permit in the Evening News. However, at some later date, I will invite your attention to a list of our desert denizens of the purple sage and cactus area.

WATCHES PUBLIC KLAN INITIATION

Glendale Woman Present at Ceremonies in Dallas Fair Grounds

The public initiation of 5600 new Ku Klux Klan members in the state fair grounds at Dallas, Tex., and the admission of 800 candidates into the ranks of the Kamelia, the women's branch of the Klan, was witnessed by Miss Grace Crampton, 325 Burchett street, Glendale, during her stay in the Texas city while en route home from an extended eastern trip. Among those present at the initiation, Miss Crampton says, was the imperial wizard from Atlanta, Ga., and many of the Klansmen were said to have come from Oklahoma to attend the ceremonies.

Miss Crampton arrived home Saturday night after a trip east covering a period of ten weeks. She left Glendale in August, going direct to Portland, Ore., where she enjoyed a trip up the Columbia river Highway, as far as the fish hatcheries; from there to Seattle, making a few hours' stop, and visiting the extensive and beautiful parks, the pride of the city. Taking passage by boat from there she spent a few hours at Victoria island, visiting the dominion government buildings, securing some fine pictures of this interesting group; journeying on to Vancouver and Stanley park, and two days out from there she traveled only in the daylight, making stops over night, that she might miss none of the magnificent scenery of the Canadian Rockies.

Arriving at Lake Louise, she put in many hours sight seeing, climbing to an elevation of 1800 feet and walking over nine miles during one day's hiking. Banff, popular resort for Canadians, was an interesting point. From here she went to Winnipeg and Port Arthur, taking boat passage again across Lakes Superior and Huron, through the locks of Sault Ste. Marie and on to Toronto, where she was the guest of Mrs. Charles McLean, who will be remembered by many residents of Glendale as Miss Fay Gould, who made her home here a few years ago. Miss Crampton visited the Canadian National exhibition which is held in Toronto annually.

Crossing the river to Niagara she continued to Albany and went down by way of the Hudson river to New York City.

From here her route was to Chicago, and next to Kansas City, her old home town, where she was entertained during her week's stay by relatives and friends. From here to Dallas, Tex., where she visited friends.

Miss Crampton came directly home from Dallas, at the termination of her tour, which she made entirely alone, and states that one of the pleasant things to remember is the courtesy and service that she received during the entire trip, never feeling at all lonely while among entire strangers so much of the time.

POPULATION INCREASE

The population of Hawaii is estimated at 291,000, an increase of about 100,000 since the last census was taken in 1910.

Methodist Leaders Laud Church Progress

The congregation of the Broadway Methodist church had as their guests Saturday afternoon Bishop Du Bose and the entire Pacific conference. The members of the conference came to Glendale for the purpose of inspecting the newly-acquired property formerly owned by the Presbyterian church at Broadway and Cedar street. The prospects proved very pleasing to the distinguished visitors, who congratulated the local congregation for the almost unbelievable progress made since its organization less than a year ago.

Some of the highest officials in southern Methodism were in the party. One of the most interesting personages present was Rev. Joseph Emery, 91 years old, and who is the oldest member of the conference, he having joined in 1858—sixty-five years ago.

The visitors were well cared for with refeshments served in the social hall of the church, and they all left with only good wishes and enthusiasm for Glendale.

by then they were trapped in the fire and both were killed.

"At the Military Arsenal Clothing Department in Tokio, there were 32,000 Japanese burned to death."

All building fires have common characteristics that enable fire department officers to use certain principles in coping with each.

Teachers Laud State Educational Dept.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 29.—The California state teachers' association, northern section, adjourned its annual convention here Saturday after adopting resolutions expressing confidence in the state department of education and deploring "the reactionary movement against the public schools fostered and promoted by selfish interests."

The teachers also adopted resolutions urging better enforcement of the 18th amendment, and commended President Coolidge for his activity in calling the conference of governors to make plans for more rigid enforcement of the liquor, immigration and narcotic laws.

Alleged Fake China Peddler Is Arrested

Paul B. Talmadge, alias R. K. Wells, who has been very active in this city selling "china," for which it is alleged he collected a deposit of one dollar and failed to deliver the goods, was apprehended by Officers Cole and Stanford on East Wilson avenue, Saturday afternoon.

Talmadge, who states that he is a minister's son, has been posing as a representative of the Pacific Decorating company of 1020 South Flower street, Los Angeles. The police assert this company does not exist.

He is being held at headquarters.
